RAYS ORGANIZATION

In 2020, the Rays advanced to the second World Series in club history. Globe Life Field in Arlington served as the neutral site for the entire series due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Despite the challenges the pandemic presented, the Rays continued to make an impact on the field and in the community. On June 2, 2020, the organization pledged to commit $100,000 per year to supporting causes in the fight against systemic racism. Funding is distributed by the Diversity and Inclusion Committee.

162 LANDING

BUSINESS OPERATIONS

STUART STERNBERG / PRINCIPAL OWNER

The 2021 season is the 16th under the leadership of Principal Owner Stuart Sternberg, who assumed control of the franchise in October 2005. Today, the massive rebranding of the club entering 2008 marks a watershed for two distinct eras of Rays baseball.

In the 13 seasons since then, the Rays own the 5th-best record in baseball at 1,081-924 (.539) and have made six trips to the postseason, including three AL East division titles (2020, 2010, 2008) and two World Series appearances (2020, 2008). During this span, only three clubs (Dodgers, Yankees, Cardinals) have reached the postseason more often than the Rays, and only two (Dodgers, Giants) have competed in more World Series. This success comes after the Devil Rays amassed the majors' worst record at 645-972 (.399) over the club's first decade of existence.

"Sternberg is the connective tissue running through the two [World Series] teams," wrote Richard Justice on MLB.com. "His taking over the Rays in 2005 began one of the great turnarounds in baseball history, from one of the least successful franchises to one of the best."

Sternberg has built an organization that encourages experimentation and nurtures new ideas. In 2008 and again in 2019, Baseball America named the Rays its MLB Organization of the Year. This environment has cultivated some of the top leadership talent across the game, including numerous managers and general managers for both small- and large-market teams.

"You want to know why they have so many innovative strategies?" wrote Tampa Bay Times columnist John Romano. "Because owner Stu Sternberg is not constantly looking over their shoulders, tallying up every success and failure."

The ingenuity extends to other areas of the business, as well. In June 2019, Sternberg and the Rays introduced an innovative plan for the team to build new home ballparks in both Tampa Bay and Montreal and divide its home games across both geographies.

Sternberg takes great pride in the organization's community service and commitment to its employees. Under his leadership, an employee-first culture defines the organization. It is fostered through myriad initiatives, including a wellness program and a staff-led service group, the Employee Community Outreach Team (ECOT). As part of this commitment to community, all employees are urged to spend one paid day each month volunteering. To date, total volunteer hours for the organization exceed 38,500.

Over the past four years, Sternberg and his partners have invested more than $20 million of capital improvements to Tropicana Field—including new LED lights throughout the stadium; an overhauled food, beverage and retail space; and the Left Field Ledge. Since 2005, the Rays total investment in upgrading Tropicana Field is more than $50 million.

Under his direction, the Rays have implemented a wide variety of fan-friendly policies. The organization was the first major league team to convert its ballpark to a cash-free facility, reducing wait times by up to 50 percent at concession and retail locations. The Rays commitment to technology and innovation has continued in recent years, and accelerated in the wake of COVID-19, with investment in new technologies and building systems to support mobile ticketing, mobile payments and promote a contactless and frictionless fan journey. The Rays also have been rated by ESPN as one of the most affordable experiences in all of sports.

Sternberg serves as chairman of MLB's Strategic Planning Committee. He is also a member of both MLB's Executive Council and its Diversity and Inclusion Board. Additionally, Sternberg is a member of the board of advisors of Moffitt Cancer Center.

Prior to his ownership of the Rays, Sternberg spent 25 years in the financial securities industry, serving as a partner in Spear, Leeds & Kellogg and then as a partner and managing director at Goldman Sachs, from which he retired in 2003. Sternberg and his wife, Lisa, have four children. He resides in St. Petersburg.

MATT SILVERMAN / PRESIDENT

Matt Silverman enters his 18th season with the Rays and 13th as team president. Together, he and Brian Auld lead the club's operations both internally and externally, including an innovative "Sister City" plan for the team to build new home ballparks in both Tampa Bay and Montreal and share its home games across both geographies.

Silverman returned to the team president role in the fall of 2017 after serving three seasons (2015-17) as president of baseball operations. He was first promoted to team president in October 2005 at the age of 29, and over the next nine years guided the franchise through the most progressive growth stage in its history. At the top of the list is the revitalization of the Rays. In the fall of 2007, Silverman directed a complete organizational rebranding including a new name, colors, uniforms and logo, a bright yellow sunburst.

While steering the baseball operations department, Silverman oversaw significant leadership changes, both on the field and in the front office. During this time, he and his staff engineered 36 trades involving nearly 100 players, restocking the organization's minor league pipeline (including the July 2017 signing of Dominican shortstop Wander Franco, now the game's consensus No. 1 prospect). In December 2014, he hired Kevin Cash to become the fifth manager in Rays history. In November 2016, he elevated Erik Neander and others within the baseball operations department. One year later, his move back to team president completed the transition of baseball leadership, passing the baton to Neander as the team's top-ranking baseball official. Neander and Cash would eventually be recognized as MLB Executive of the Year and AL Manager of the Year, respectively.

Silverman is board chairman of Starting Right, Now, which helps homeless high school students reach their potential. He is in his eighth year as the first chairman of the board of the Positive Coaching Alliance Tampa Bay, a national nonprofit providing youth and high school athletes a positive, character-building youth sports experience. He also serves on the board of the Rays Baseball Foundation.

Prior to joining the Rays, Silverman worked closely with Stuart Sternberg at Goldman Sachs and orchestrated Sternberg's purchase of controlling interest in the franchise. In 2018, Silverman and Auld oversaw the Rays purchase of the Tampa Bay Rowdies USL soccer team, based in St. Petersburg. They now also serve as vice chairmen of the Rowdies, overseeing all franchise operations.

The Dallas native first met Auld in high school, and they graduated one year apart. He holds a bachelor of economics degree from Harvard University. Matt and his wife, Andrea, reside in St. Petersburg with their three daughters: Alexa, Samantha and Casey.

TOP-RANKING BASEBALL EXECUTIVES

The Rays have had four top-ranking baseball executives in franchise history.

Chuck LaMar, Senior VP, Baseball Operations & General Manager	7/19/95–10/6/05
Andrew Friedman, Executive VP, Baseball Operations	11/3/05–10/14/14
Matt Silverman, President, Baseball Operations	10/14/14–11/1/17
Erik Neander, Senior VP, Baseball Operations & General Manager	11/1/17–Current

BRIAN AULD / PRESIDENT

Brian Auld begins his 16th season with the Rays and his seventh in his current position as team president. Together, he and Matt Silverman lead the club's operations both internally and externally, including an innovative plan for the team to build new home ballparks in both Tampa Bay and Montreal and divide its home games across both geographies.

In his tenure as team president, Auld has brought a renewed focus to the Rays mission—to energize the community through the magic of Rays baseball—by redoubling the Rays commitment to its community and to its employees.

Under Auld's leadership, the Rays have developed a thriving workplace culture. In addition to paid parental leave, adoption benefits, paid volunteer time and a wellness initiative, the Rays created a $10 minimum wage for all part-time employees.

In 2018, Auld and Silverman oversaw the Rays purchase of the Tampa Bay Rowdies USL soccer team, based in St. Petersburg. They now also serve as vice chairmen of the Rowdies, overseeing all franchise operations.

Prior to Auld's promotion to team president, he oversaw a wide spectrum of the team's business operations, including the human resources, information technology, marketing, ticket sales, fan experience and stadium operations departments. Auld joined the Rays in June 2005 as director of planning and development, where he worked closely with Silverman to define organizational priorities and assist with the transition in ownership. Soon after, he played a key role in establishing the Employee Community Outreach Team (ECOT). All Rays staff may spend up to one paid workday each month volunteering in the community and ECOT assists by finding opportunities.

Before joining the Rays, Auld attended Harvard Business School, where he earned his MBA focusing on managing human capital, marketing and finance. Auld's previous work experience includes serving as lead teacher and director of development for the East Palo Alto Charter School in California.

Born in Berkeley, Calif., Auld received a bachelor's degree in economics and master's degree in education from Stanford University, where he also captained the lacrosse team. He and Silverman met in high school in Dallas, and graduated one year apart. Brian is proud to claim that he once trekked to the bottom of Mount Everest.

BASEBALL OPERATIONS

ERIK NEANDER

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT, BASEBALL OPERATIONS & GENERAL MANAGER

Erik Neander (nee-ANN-der) enters his fifth season as senior vice president of baseball operations and general manager, and his fourth season as the club's top-ranking baseball official. He was named to his current post on Nov 4, 2016, and one year later Matt Silverman shifted to team president after a three-year stretch as president of baseball operations.

As the leader of baseball operations, Erik collaborates with all areas of the department to set the vision and expectations for the entire operation. In addition to working to sustain a people-first culture, he directly oversees functional areas, including player evaluation and procurement, the major league coaching and support staff, and roster and staff management. He and his group assembled a club that proved itself as the American League champions by any measure in 2020: they went a league-best 40-20, won the powerhouse AL East by seven games and in the postseason conquered the Blue Jays, Yankees and Astros to reach the World Series. The Rays captured their third division title (2010, 2008) and second pennant (2008), and have now played in back-to-back postseasons for the second time in club history (2010-11). Since Neander moved into his current role, the Rays have improved their winning percentage in each of the last four seasons—a claim that no other team can make.

"I think that the Rays are an example of what's great about our game," Commissioner Rob Manfred told the Tampa Bay Times last October. "And what I mean by that is that there's lots of different ways to put together a roster that can be really, really effective. And I think the fact that the Rays have done it with more limited resources than almost any other club is a phenomenal accomplishment. It's a credit to their ingenuity, their talent, their innovation."

In just over four years as general manager, Erik and his staff have engineered 72 major league trades involving a total of 174 players, including a club-record 20 trades in 2018. Of the 40-man roster and 60-day IL, 34 players have been acquired since he was appointed GM (and 22 via trade). Among those trade acquisitions are 2020 ALCS MVP Randy Arozarena, Tyler Glasnow, Austin Meadows, Ryan Yarbrough, Nick Anderson, Ji-Man Choi, Yandy Díaz, Manuel Margot, Francisco Mejía and Luis Patiño. The 28-man 2020 World Series roster included 22 players acquired on Erik's watch, 14 of them via trade.

Even more talent is on the way. The Rays enter 2021 ranked by Baseball America as the No. 1 farm system in the game for a second straight season. MLB.com placed eight Rays prospects on its preseason Top 100 list, most of any team. Seven of those eight prospects were acquired by Erik's staff, including international signing Wander Franco (No. 1 overall), draft picks Brendan McKay (No. 72) and Shane McClanahan (No. 84) and trade acquisitions Patiño (No. 19), Arozarena (No. 34), Xavier Edwards (No. 85) and Shane Baz (No. 90).

Over the past three seasons, the Rays own the 5th-best record in baseball at 226-158 (.589)—a 95-win pace over a 162-game season. In 2019, the team's accomplishments—including a 96-66 record that fell one win shy of the franchise record—earned industry acclaim for both Neander and the organization. Erik was selected by his peers as the second recipient of Major League Baseball's Executive of the Year Award, following Oakland's Billy Beane (2018), and earned a similar honor as Sporting News Executive of the Year. The Rays were recognized as Baseball America's 2019 Organization of the Year.

Neander, who turns 38 in May, begins his 15th season in the Rays organization. Much of his past experience focused on player personnel, departmental administration, research and development, the amateur draft and major league operations. He joined the Rays in January 2007 as a baseball operations intern and was hired full-time in October 2007. He was later promoted to manager, baseball research and development in 2009, director of baseball operations prior to the 2012 season and vice president of baseball operations in October 2014.

Prior to joining the Rays, Erik worked for Baseball Info Solutions. The Oneonta, N.Y. native graduated from Virginia Tech with a bachelor's of science in food, nutrition and exercise. RAYS BALLPARK EFFORTS

WILL VRAGOVIC / TAMPA BAY RAYS

WITH MLB'S PRELIMINARY APPROVAL, IN JUNE 2019 THE RAYS ANNOUNCED AN INNOVATIVE PLAN TO BUILD NEW HOME BALLPARKS IN BOTH TAMPA BAY AND MONTREAL AND DIVIDE ITS HOME GAMES ACROSS BOTH GEOGRAPHIES.

Since assuming ownership of the team in 2005, it has been Stuart Sternberg's priority to build a new ballpark and secure the team's future in Tampa Bay. In 2007, the team proposed a 35,000-seat ballpark at historic Al Lang Field in St. Petersburg; however, there was an absence of political and corporate support for the plan. Most recently, the organization attempted to build a 31,000-seat fixed-roof ballpark in Tampa's Ybor City neighborhood. That pursuit ended in December 2018 after again failing to secure the necessary public and corporate support for the ballpark.

The "Sister City" or "Shared Season" plan proposed by the Rays in June 2019 would divide its home games across Tampa Bay and Montreal. It would have the team spend spring training and the first portion of its home season in Tampa Bay, then play its remaining home games in Montreal (although no official scheduling parameters have been set). The Rays would play home games in each city during its best weather months, and it would allow for both new venues to be intimate, open air ballparks.

Both Tampa Bay and Montreal have deep histories with Major League Baseball, and this concept offers each the opportunity to secure it permanently. Both would enjoy the best of what baseball can provide a hometown, and together they would fuel the team and improve its competitive prospects. Both markets would also benefit from the tourism, business and cultural connections that would develop between Tampa Bay and Montreal.

Many of the finer points of the concept still need to be worked out, including the future name of the team and how postseason games would be shared among the two markets. The Rays are currently exploring the feasibility of this Sister City concept. Its Tropicana Field lease with the City of St. Petersburg expires after the 2027 season.

VOTING INITIATIVE

Ahead of the November 2020 elections, the Rays launched raysbaseball.com/elections as a comprehensive guide for fans and the electorate. The page aimed to bring awareness to important dates and deadlines and provide information about various aspects of the voting process including voter registration, vote-by-mail and early voting, with links to nonpartisan, educational resources. The Rays also offered Tropicana Field to the Pinellas County Supervisor of Elections for use in any capacity to increase access to voting during an election period complicated by COVID-19, and the facility was deemed a vote-by-mail ballot drop-off site throughout early voting. Additionally, a Racial Equity Grant was awarded by the Rays Baseball Foundation to the League of Women Voters of the St. Petersburg Area for its work to increase voting access in the underrepresented neighborhoods surrounding Tropicana Field, including a get-out-the-vote campaign entitled Roll to the Polls which encouraged mail-in ballot drop-off by all modes of transportation ahead of Election Day.

PROGRAMS

HOME RUN CLUB

In 2010, the Big Game James Club was started by James and Ryane Shields. The club, later to be named the Home Run Club in 2013, consists of a donated suite for foster children and their families. Even though founders James and Ryane Shields are no longer members of the Rays organization, their legacy of advocating for children in foster care lives on. The club continues to offer a sense of stability and belonging to hundreds of foster children. Each season, over 500 foster children have become club members. Two participating organizations have hosted events resulting in numerous adoptions for local foster children.

RAYS JERSEY PROGRAM

Since 2014, the Rays Jersey Program has outfitted more than 80,000 Tampa Bay area tee-ball players and coaches with jerseys and caps. The program covers more than 80 different leagues in nine area counties and has saved the leagues more than $1 million in equipment costs. As a result of these savings, officials from some of the participating leagues have noted that they have the ability to pass these savings along to participant families. They have also been able to repair their scoreboards, provide upgrades to dugouts, add fencing for fields, purchase additional equipment and grounds crew supplies and repair concession stands and other areas of their facilities.

READING WITH THE RAYS

Since 2006, the Rays Baseball Foundation's summer reading program, Reading with the Rays, has encouraged kids to avoid summer reading loss by participating in a fun and interactive reading program over the summer months. More than 350,000 Tampa Bay area students from nine surrounding counties have participated since its inception. The program is made possible through a partnership with the Tampa Bay Times Newspaper in Education, the Rays and public library systems in Charlotte, Citrus, Hernando, Hillsborough, Manatee, Pasco, Pinellas, Polk and Sarasota counties.

TEAM SMILE

Since 2018, the Rays have partnered with Team Smile, an advocacy group that partners dental professionals with professional athletic organizations to provide life-changing dental care to underserved children in their communities. In 2018-19, the Rays hosted more than 400 children from the Boys & Girls Clubs of the Suncoast and local foster care groups for a free dental day at Tropicana Field. The children received dental work completely free of charge, including X-rays, screening and educational material on how to protect their teeth. The value of care provided totaled almost $170,000.

The Rays, in partnership with United Concordia Dental, provided hundreds of local area children with dental hygiene kits in 2020.

SOUTH ST. PETERSBURG NEIGHBORHOOD INITIATIVE

The Rays launched the South St. Petersburg Neighborhood Initiative in response to the tragic 2009 shooting death of 8-year-old Paris Whitehead in south St. Petersburg, an underserved community that borders Tropicana Field. This program benefits the following organizations and initiatives:

ECOT

The Rays Employee Community Outreach Team (ECOT) was established in 2008 to provide invaluable volunteer hours to community service agencies that enhance or improve the quality of life in the communities they serve. In total, Rays employees have logged more than 38,500 volunteer hours to support nonprofits in the Tampa Bay region.

IN-KIND DONATIONS

Each year, the Rays donate thousands of tickets, suites, experiences and autographed memorabilia to assist organizations in our nine neighboring counties to raise funds for their respective causes.

PLAY BALL

The goal of Rays Play Ball is to celebrate youth baseball and softball while simultaneously encouraging participation in all forms of the game. The Rays do this through support of Rays RBI Tampa and Burg Baseball, the Rays Jersey Program, field renovations and many Play Ball events, like Play Ball Day and Play Ball Weekend.

On July 27, 2019, the Rays hosted the first Baseball Magic Clinic. Almost 100 children from Buddy Baseball and the Miracle League of Pinellas County completed various stations, receiving instruction on hitting, pitching and fielding.

PLAYER & RAYS WIVES PROGRAMS

TUESDAY'S CHAMPION

Before every Tuesday home game at Tropicana Field, the Rays host a child from the Make-A-Wish Foundation or Children's Dream Fund at the ballpark as a part of a special program called "Tuesday's Champion." The kids, accompanied by their families, are invited to participate in a VIP experience which includes being on the field during batting practice, where they can meet and interact with Rays players and coaches. They are then treated to dinner in the Rays Club before taking the field and throwing out the ceremonial first pitch. Along with these experiences, they are given a personalized jersey and a bat to commemorate the experience. The children selected for the program are battling life-threatening illnesses and occasionally come straight from the hospital for this special experience.

While Tuesday's Champions were unable to visit Tropicana Field in 2020, Rays players and coaches supported critically ill children through a virtual "Rays OFF the Runway" event, benefiting the Children's Dream Fund. The event, which would have typically been a fashion show featuring Rays players and coaches with their significant other, was reimagined into a new opportunity for the dream children and fans to meet the Rays in a virtual setting. Over 700 viewers tuned in and over $37,000 was raised to make dreams come true for children with life-threatening illnesses.

KIERMAIER'S KIDS

In 2019, with a $25,000 donation to the Children's Dream Fund, Kevin Kiermaier and his wife, Marisa, fulfilled the dreams of six children—"Kiermaier's Kids"—who are living with life-threatening illnesses. The Kiermaier's Kids' dreams included meeting Mickey Mouse, visiting Disney World to meet the princesses, setting sail on a Disney cruise, attending a Queen concert, a full car makeover and a new, fully equipped tool shed.

LOWE'S HOME RUNS FOR HOPE

For every home run Rays infielder Brandon Lowe hits, he and his wife, Madison, will donate $100 to the Crisis Center of Tampa Bay. The Rays Baseball Foundation will also contribute $100 per home run in support of Lowe's "Home Runs for Hope" campaign. The Crisis Center of Tampa Bay provides a range of services to ensure that no one in the community has to face a crisis alone. It is open 24 hours a day, 365 days a year as the community gateway to help. People who are struggling with a variety of crisis situations including sexual assault or abuse, domestic violence, financial distress, substance abuse, medical emergency, suicidal thoughts and other emotional or situational problems can connect to hope and healing.

RAYS WIVES

Throughout the season, the Rays Wives support the community through various initiatives. In 2020, the Rays Wives supported the Children's Dream Fund, Girls on the Run Greater Tampa Bay and Ronald McDonald House Charities of Tampa Bay.

ALL-STAR GAMES

The 2021 All-Star Game will be held on Tuesday, July 13 at Truist Park in Atlanta. As the defending American League champions, the AL team will be led by Manager Kevin Cash and the Rays coaching staff. It is the third time Atlanta has hosted the Midsummer Classic. The Rays are the only current club yet to host one.

The pandemic-shortened 2020 season was the first summer in 75 years without an All-Star Game. In 1945, no Midsummer Classic was played due to World War II.

As of 2018, there will be no ESPN Sunday Night Baseball game on the Sunday before the All-Star Game, as stipulated in the latest update to the Collective Bargaining Agreement. On Thursday, July 15, the Red Sox will visit the Yankees with the other 28 clubs resuming play on Friday. Prior to 2018, the schedule was clear the Thursday following the All-Star Game.

The 2022 All-Star Game will be played at Dodger Stadium.

TRIPLE PLAYS

The Rays have pulled off three triple plays in club history. The most recent came on Sep 27, 2011 vs. NYY when Russell Martin grounded into a 5-4-3 triple play (Evan Longoria to Ben Zobrist to Sean Rodríguez).

On Sep 2, 2006 vs. SEA, the Rays pulled off their second triple play, the first at Tropicana Field, in the top of the 1st inning. With runners on first and third, J.P. Howell threw a strike on a 3-2 count to Raul Ibañez for the first out. Catcher Dioner Navarro threw the ball to shortstop Ben Zobrist to get Adrián Beltré, who was running from first on the pitch. Zobrist then threw back to Navarro to nail José López as he tried to score from third to complete the triple play. It was the first 2-6-2 triple play in major league history.

On Sep 13, 2002 at TOR, the Rays executed the first triple play in club history (L-4-6-3) with Dewon Brazelton on the mound in his major league debut.

Rays opponents have also turned three triple plays, and Sean Rodríguez was the batter in the two most recent. Both of Rodríguez's were of the 5-4-3 variety—April 17, 2014 vs. NYY and Aug 16, 2011 at BOS—making him the first player to hit into a pair of triple plays since ATL Chipper Jones (2007, 1996) and before that, SD Tony Gwynn (1995, 1991). In 2011, Rodríguez became the first player since STL Gregg Jefferies in 1993 to hit into a triple play and participate in one defensively in the same season.

On June 11, 2006 at KC, the Royals turned a 8-1-6-5 triple play when Russell Branyan's apparent sacrifice fly was nullified upon appeal, when it was ruled that Aubrey Huff had left third base early on the tag-up. Rocco Baldelli was also caught on the play trying to advance from first to second base.

ALL-STAR BALLOTING

In 2019, Major League Baseball introduced a revamped All-Star balloting process that features two phases of fan voting to determine the starting position players. The top three vote-getters at each position (and top nine outfielders) from the primary phase advance to The Starters Election. Fans then elect nine starters to the AL All-Star Team and eight to the NL squad.

The pitchers and reserves for both All-Star teams—totaling 23 for the AL and 24 for the NL—will be determined through a combination of player balloting and selections made by the Commissioner's Office. The managers of the teams that played in the previous year's World Series then choose the batting orders and starting pitchers.

Also introduced in 2019, should the All-Star Game go to extra innings, both clubs begin the 10th inning—and all subsequent innings—with a runner on second base.

Since the first All-Star Game in 1933, selection of the All-Stars has shifted on several occasions between fans, players, managers and MLB. In 1933-34, selection of the All-Star teams was up to the fans, who could vote for All-Stars through newspaper ads featuring official ballots. From 1935-46, each league's eight managers selected the participants while the All-Star managers chose the starters. Balloting for the starting lineups, tabulated by the Associated Press, returned to the fans from 1947-57. However, a case of ballot-stuffing by Cincinnati fans in 1957 prompted Commissioner Ford Frick to make player selection the privilege of managers, players and coaches from 1958-69.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn returned voting to the fans in 1970. Since then, All-Star fan balloting has developed into the largest voter participation program in the U.S. outside of state and national elections.

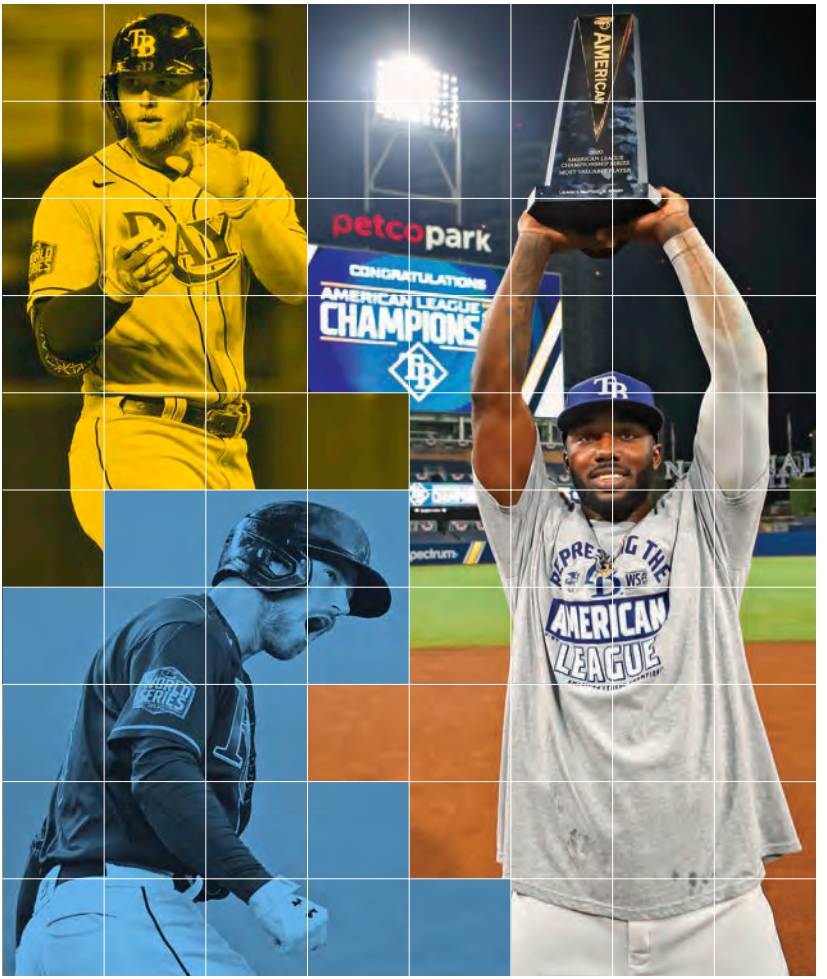
ROBERTO CLEMENTE AWARD

Since 1971, Major League Baseball has annually presented an award that recognizes a player who best exemplifies the game of baseball through sportsmanship, community involvement and positive contributions to his team.

In 1973, following the tragic death of Roberto Clemente, the award was named to honor the man whose spirit and goodwill will always be remembered. The 12-time All-Star and Hall of Famer was killed in a plane crash in 1972 delivering food and medical supplies to earthquake victims of Nicaragua. The award recognizes those individuals who truly understand the value of helping others.

A panel of baseball dignitaries, including Vera Clemente and Commissioner Rob Manfred, annually selects the winner from a list of 30 candidates, one from each major league club. These local winners are announced in September on Roberto Clemente Day. The winner of the national Roberto Clemente Award is announced during a pregame ceremony at the World Series. Past winners include Edgar Martínez, Jamie Moyer, Jim Thome, Derek Jeter, Curt Schilling, Al Leiter, Tony Gwynn, Willie Mays, Ozzie Smith and Cal Ripken Jr. The Rays were represented on the ballot by Charlie Morton in 2020.

TB



40-MAN ROSTER

The Rays used their entire roster in 2020, employing 59 different lineups in 60 games—including the first lineup in modern major league history to feature exclusively left-handed hitters. They had a major-league-leading 18 different players hit a homer and finished among American League leaders with 197 extra-base hits (2nd), 243 walks (2nd) and 48 stolen bases (4th). Entering the 2021 season, the Rays will lean on ALCS MVP Randy Arozarena and All-Stars Brandon Lowe and Austin Meadows.

X-RAY REPORT

- Willy showed off his culinary skills for Rays fans by teaching Bally Sports Sun reporter Tricia Whitaker how to prepare tostones (fried plantains) and salami, one of his favorite snacks, in a virtual edition of Rays All-Access produced while under quarantine last year…he presumably shared them with roommate Manuel Margot.
- Last spring, Willy often spent his evenings in Port Charlotte reading by the waterfront and enjoying the sunset…he most recently finished Pedro, a memoir penned by fellow Dominican and Hall of Fame pitcher Pedro Martínez.
- While in San Diego for the postseason, Willy was assigned to Fernando Tatís Jr.'s locker…the two also share a nickname, with Willy sometimes known as "The Kid" and Tatís, "El Niño."
- Willy has trained with 12-time All-Star shortstop Barry Larkin in past offseasons and credits Larkin with helping him find consistency in his game, especially with his glove…he also attributes his defensive strides to his work with Rays third base coach Rodney Linares and a rigorous series of drills they do together.
- Willy likes to spend time during the offseason in the Dominican visiting the mountains and experiencing nature, especially its rivers and beaches.
- As a kid, Willy and his friends loved to play down by the river…he would occasionally sneak out of the house at night to go there despite being caught multiple times by his parents.

X-RAY REPORT

- Randy achieved folk hero status last October, when he was named ALCS MVP as a rookie and set numerous major league records for a single postseason…one of his secret weapons may be a conspicuous piece of footwear—cowboy boots, from Brent Honeywell Jr.'s wardrobe—which made frequent appearances during his historic postseason run…the "power boots" began their journey into legend while playing in Mexico… Randy would frequently borrow a teammate's pair of boots when his bat needed extra pop, claiming he homered each day he put them on…the result was 14 HR in the Mexican Winter League that season.
- Randy's feet were again the focus as he faced off against teammate Brett Phillips in a pair of dance battles after the Rays clinched the division and later the ALDS…some disagreement exists on who emerged victorious overall, but the general consensus says the series was split 1-1…Randy himself claimed the win in round two, declaring on Instagram, "Today, I took home the crown. I won my rematch."
- Randy played two years of professional baseball in Cuba, where he earned the nickname El Cohete Cubano, or "The Cuban Rocket," for his lightning speed…he earned $4 a month during his first season (later $38) and at age 19 led Pinar del Río in stolen bases…he was left off the roster for the 2015 Caribbean Series out of concern that he would defect…he defected to Mexico later that same year, prompted in part by the passing of his father in 2014.
- Soccer was his first love…his younger brother, Raiko, is a professional goalkeeper who signed with the USL's Tampa Bay Rowdies for the 2021 season after playing three seasons for Mexican clubs, most recently for the Cafetaleros de Chiapas (The Coffee Growers)…the two originally began playing the opposite sport and switched paths professionally…Randy's baseball career didn't begin until his soccer coach dropped him off at a baseball practice to help a local team short on players.
- When asked which players he admired growing up, Randy told the media "My favorite player is Randy Arozarena," after mentioning Yuli Gurriel… when asked for his take on Randy's remarks, Manager Kevin Cash said, "I agree with him."
- Randy battled a prolonged COVID-19 diagnosis in the early part of the 2020 season which prevented him from participating in baseball activities with the team…to stay fit, he crafted a home fitness regimen of 300 push-ups a day and three square meals of chicken and rice…the result was 15 pounds of added muscle.

2020 SEASON

- Appeared in 23 games and made 17 starts (12-LF, 4-DH, 1-RF) after his Aug 30 recall, when 1B/DH José Martínez was traded to the Cubs…from the date of his recall through season's end, ranked 3rd among AL rookies with 7 HR and 15 runs and tied for 3rd with 4 SB.
- Was on the alternate training site COVID-19 Related IL/Rehab from July 22–Aug 29.
- Hit all 7 HR in September, which led the team and tied for 7th in the AL…fell 4 PA shy of qualifying in September, but his .678 SLG would have ranked 3rd in the AL and his 1.055 OPS would have ranked 4th…also led the team in September with 14 runs and 11 RBI (tied with Nate Lowe).

X-RAY REPORT

- While on the mound against the Yankees on July 18, 2019, Yonny's 1-2 pitch to ring up Brett Gardner in the 2nd inning sparked Yankees Manager Aaron Boone's "savages" tirade with home plate umpire Brennan Miller…the exchange included Boone pointing toward Yonny, shouting, "That guy is a good pitcher."
- He was never considered a highly-touted international prospect, instead signing with the Rays for $100,000 when he was 18 years old.
- As a child, Yonny would play a game similar to baseball that replaced the ball and bat with chapitas, or bottle caps, and a broomstick.

2020 SEASON

- Underwent Tommy John surgery on Aug 24, performed by Dr. Koco Eaton in St. Petersburg.
- Limited to 3 apps (all starts) due to two stints on the injured list…sidelined from Aug 3-15 due to right triceps inflammation…returned on Aug 16 to start the second game of a doubleheader at TOR, going 2.2 IP…placed on the 10-day IL (torn right UCL) on Aug 19, retroactive to Aug 17, and transferred to the 45-day IL on Aug 22.
- Made his third Opening Day roster and started the club's fifth game of the season.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- In 2019, ranked 3rd on the Rays staff with 9 wins and 133.1 IP, trailing Charlie Morton and Ryan Yarbrough in both categories.
- Min. 100 IP, ranked among AL leaders in WHIP (1.05, 4th), opp avg. (.225, 8th) and BB/9 IP ratio (1.89, 7th)…his 0.99 WHIP before the All-Star break was the 2nd-best in club history among qualifiers, behind James Shields (0.98) in 2011.
- In Baseball America's annual Best Tools survey of major league managers, coaches and executives, was ranked as having the AL's Best Changeup.
- Reinstated from the 10-day IL (right middle finger inflammation) on Sep 21, missing six weeks…his rehab assignment consisted of four bullpen sessions and two simulated games.
- Went 6-5 with a 3.54 ERA (104.1-IP, 41-ER) in 18 starts, compared to 3-0 with a 4.97 ERA (29-IP, 16-ER) in 8 apps in relief…made 13 straight apps as a starter, May 27–Aug 4, before the injury.
- Was 5-2 with a 3.10 ERA (69.2-IP, 24-ER) in 14 apps (10 starts) at home, yielding 3 ER (or fewer) in all but one outing and 2 ER (or fewer) 10 times.
- Became the third Rays pitcher to start a season with consecutive starts of 5 IP (or more) and 2 hits (or fewer), following Jake Odorizzi in 2015 and Matt Moore in 2013…on March 31 vs. HOU, went 7 IP and his only run allowed was a 3rd-inning homer by Jake Marisnick…went five scoreless in his next start on April 7 at SF.
- On April 17 vs. BAL, became the third pitcher in franchise history to make a scoreless relief app of at least 5 IP and allow 1 hit (or fewer), joining Ryan Yarbrough on May 4, 2018 vs. TOR and Esteban Yan on April 13, 1998 vs. MIN…his only hit allowed was a 2-out double in the 2nd inning.
- On May 27 vs. TOR, his only baserunners allowed in 5 IP were a pair of 2nd-inning walks…was the fourth time in franchise history a pitcher did not allow a hit in a start of 5 IP (or more), joining Blake Snell (5 IP) on Aug 10, 2018,

Nathan Eovaldi (6 IP) on May 30, 2018 at OAK and Matt Garza (9 IP) on July 26, 2010 vs. DET.

- Made seven consecutive quality starts from June 7–July 12, the longest such streak by a Ray since Jake Faria (7) from June 7–July 14, 2017…went 2-2 with a 2.93 ERA (46-IP, 15-ER) over that stretch, but the Rays went 2-5 in those games.
- On June 7 at BOS, retired his first 15 BF on 50 pitches, escaped a bases-loaded, 1-out jam in the 6th inning with back-to-back strikeouts and was replaced after eight scoreless and 101 pitches…it was the longest perfect game bid of his career and tied for the longest no-hit bid of his career.
- His start against the Red Sox was the seventh time in club history a Rays pitcher went eight scoreless at Fenway Park…was the third visiting pitcher since 2010 to allow 2 hits (or fewer) in a scoreless start of 8 IP (or more) at Fenway Park, joining two other Rays: Drew Smyly (8 IP) on April 19, 2016 and Matt Moore (9 IP) on July 22, 2013…was the first righty to do this since SEA Félix Hernández on April 11, 2007.

X-RAY REPORT

- Ji-Man was recognized as his hometown of Incheon's citizen of the year for 2020…the award goes annually to the person who best represents the city…Ji-Man donated 20,000 sterile masks to the Incheon community last year.
- Ji-Man became the first Korean-born position player to appear in a World Series, and his jersey from Game 2 (his first start) is on display in the "Autumn Glory" exhibit at the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum in Cooperstown.
- He went home to South Korea during the 2020 shutdown, but returned to the U.S. with gifts… Ji-Man had a small batch of personally-branded hand sanitizer to share, with "Overcome COVID-19" and his name and likeness on the label.
- Ji-Man is terrified of ghosts and believes to have had many encounters with them, including hugs and whispers…his first ghostly encounter in baseball came while recovering from back surgery in 2011, when he felt a "spirit" on his chest and awoke as he felt the bed slump…he had another encounter at the Pfister Hotel in Milwaukee, where a number of major leaguers have claimed to experience the paranormal.
- Over the winter, Ji-Man visited a youth baseball club in Chungju, South Korea…he worked with them on fundamentals, gave instruction and helped them with soft-toss and drills…he is one of five active major leaguers born in South Korea… his 39 career home runs rank 4th all-time among Korean-born players, behind Shin-Soo Choo (213), Jung Ho Kang (46) and Hee-Seop Choi (40).
- Ji-Man attracted international attention during the 2020 postseason for his defensive acrobatics, especially his ability to do the splits…he credits pilates for his flexibility…before Game 4 of the World Series, he joked "a lot of people think I'm a gymnast instead of a baseball player."
- Rays fans' love for Ji-Man was on display in Game 4 of the 2019 ALDS at Tropicana Field… groups of fans were heard chanting his name in the parking lot and later the entire ballpark joined in the chant during his at-bats…the moment was later commemorated with an officially-licensed T-shirt and Ji-Man used the audio as his walk-up music last year.

- Prior to the homer off Kay as a right-handed batter, Choi had hit 36 HR in his career—the most of any player before hitting a home run from the opposite side since Stats LLC data is available (1974)…Choi logged 861 PA as a left-handed batter before his first plate appearance as a right-handed batter—3rd-most of any player since 1974 before "switching sides" behind CHC Javier Báez (2,394 PA as a righty, first hit lefty on Aug 8, 2019 at CIN against a position player pitching) and TEX Geno Petralli (1,898 PA as a lefty, first hit righty on July 24, 1992 at BAL).
- According to MLB.com's Sarah Langs, Choi's 861 PA batting lefty were the most from one side of the plate before hitting a homer from the other side since CLE Hal Trosky in 1935.
- Is the only Korean-born player to homer from both sides of the plate.
- After his right-handed homer, reporter Jeff Passan said on Baseball Tonight: "Ji-Man Choi is the most interesting man in baseball."

- Became the first Korean-born position player to appear in a World Series.

> "[T]he darling of this October has been Ji-Man Choi. … Choi is a stout 6-foot-1 and 260 pounds, but he has a Gumby-like ability to twist and contort his body to make plays."

X-RAY REPORT

- Pete's intensity was on display during last year's postseason, as a national audience bore witness to his signature unblinking focus…he earned the nickname "Psycho Pete" for destroying a new pair of Oakley sunglasses during drills while rehabbing as a Rangers minor leaguer.
- He was among the more enthusiastic members of "The Stable" last season, a nickname for the Rays bullpen inadvertently coined by Manager Kevin Cash…he and a few others were seen around Globe Life Park sporting Stetson hats and Lucchese boots during the World Series.
- Pete studied mechanical engineering at Mizzou and scored 34 out of a possible 36 points on his ACT…had baseball not worked out, he had hoped to work for Boeing designing military aircraft.
- He and his wife, Lydia, have one child, Isak (1)… the two met in an acting class at Mizzou while student-athletes there…Lydia played volleyball for the Tigers.
- Pete gets his competitiveness from his mom… when she was younger, she received a technical foul for throwing a basketball at an opposing player…she claims it was meant to be handed back to the official, but Pete knows better.
- His father, Shane, played baseball at Mizzou and then for one season in the minor leagues in 1983…both of his grandparents on his mom's side attended Mizzou and his two uncles and maternal grandfather all played football there.
- He played the bass trombone for seven years.

- Tied three others for the major league rookie lead in wins…tied for 2nd among rookies in apps, trailing SF Tyler Rogers (29)…his 35 SO ranked 4th among major league rookies.
- His 13.16 SO/9 IP ratio was tops for a rookie reliever in club history, ahead of Colin Poche (12.54) in 2019 and Kirby Yates (10.50) in 2014.

> "You don't see many guys with that high average (velocity) and the type of carry that he gets and have the ability to land a really, really quality breaking ball."

- On Sep 16 vs. WAS, made his first career start and pitched a scoreless 1st inning.
- POSTSEASON: Went 0-0 with a 3.65 ERA (12.1-IP, 5-ER) in 9 apps, and the Rays went 8-1 in games he pitched…tied Diego Castillo for the team lead with 3 saves.

- Tyler and his older brother, Ted, are close friends but have always been competitive…in an interview from the World Series, Ted told ABC Action News that Tyler would often pout when he lost as a kid and say "I just want Taco Bell"…"So I think that it's poetic justice that he ended up giving Taco Bell to the entire country," Ted said of Tyler allowing a steal by Mookie Betts in Game 1, which triggered the chain's "Steal a Base, Steal a Taco" promotion.

- As a young teen, Tyler once threw water balloons at cars from the top of a Subway restaurant…he was disappointed to learn one of the balloons burst on the local police chief's wife's windshield.
- Everything Tyler owns essentially fits in one suitcase…he doesn't like to stay in the same place for long and enjoys staying on the move.
- He was voted "funniest" by his classmates in his senior class superlatives.

- His mother, Donna, was a gymnast at Cal State Fullerton, then coached Cal State Northridge to a Division II national championship in 1982.

X-RAY REPORT

- Rich ended the 2020 season as baseball's oldest active pitcher, and 2nd-oldest player behind LAA Albert Pujols…if he appears in a game for the Rays on May 24 or later, he would become the oldest player in franchise history…that distinction is currently held by Wade Boggs, who appeared in his last game at 41 years, 73 days… Boggs also is the oldest Ray to appear as a pitcher (41 years, 56 days), but Hill will become the oldest true pitcher in Rays history when he debuts, passing Brian Shouse (41 years, 5 days) in 2009.
- Rich said of his stint in independent ball in 2015: "I'm not 100 percent sure when I'll retire…I'll probably be pitching until I'm 70, like Bill Lee."… he was released by the Nationals in June 2015 but had no intention of retiring…he ditched his sidearm delivery and asked a Red Sox executive to watch him throw at his former high school in Massachusetts…he warmed up with his nephew's American Legion team and impressed the Red Sox, who ended up signing him to a minor league deal after two dominant starts for the independent Long Island Ducks…the bobbleheads from his short stint in the independent league sell for between $50-60 on eBay.
- Rich and his wife, Caitlin, married in 2007 and their first son, Brice, was born in 2011…their second son, Brooks, was born the day after Christmas in 2013 but passed away as an infant due to a rare set of brain disorders and kidney failure…Rich and Caitlin intend to set up scholarships in Brooks' name in the future.
- Rich is the youngest of five children and was born 14 years after his next-youngest sibling… in elementary school, he responded to a question on what he wanted to be growing up with "Major League Baseball player"…he learned the curveball grip from his brother, Lloyd Jr., who pitched for Division III Colby College.

- Of undergoing his fourth elbow surgery this offseason, Brent tweeted: "I'm a baller. And have had way worse. I'm feeling good. I owe it to the game of baseball to keep pushing."
- Although not on the active roster, he may have contributed to the 2020 postseason in a major way…Randy Arozarena wore Brent's boots for good luck during his historic October run.
- In visits to Atlanta's Turner Field growing up, Brent frequently "lounged" near the bullpen to talk to the pitchers, including Jonny Venters, Craig Kimbrel and Billy Wagner…he guaranteed to bullpen catcher Eddie Pérez that he'd play in the big leagues one day.
- Brent loved to play ding-dong-ditch as a kid until he and his best friend, Tyler, rang the doorbell of a house and the garage door opened to reveal a police cruiser with the lights on.
- Brent graduated from Franklin County High School in Royston, Ga. …when he makes his major league debut, the school will have produced two major leaguers: Brent and Ty Cobb.
- His father, Brent Sr., played for three seasons in the Pirates minor league system…Brent Sr. pitched for Saint Leo University under coach Mike Marshall, who won the NL Cy Young Award as a reliever with the Dodgers in 1974… his father learned how to throw a screwball from Marshall and passed it on to Brent.

- Ranked by Baseball America as the No. 80 overall prospect in the minors following the season… was the No. 6 prospect in the Rays system… the publication also tabbed him as having the Best Changeup in the organization for a second consecutive year.
- In 2018, exited a live batting practice session in spring training with right forearm tightness, later diagnosed as a torn ulnar collateral ligament…underwent Tommy John surgery on Feb 27, performed by Dr. James Andrews.

- His older brother, Dan, was promoted to head groundskeeper for the Cubs ahead of the 2020 season…he's been with the Cubs since 2016…Kevin was disappointed that changes to the 2020 schedule prevented him from tearing up his brother's turf.

X-RAY REPORT

- Brandon and Austin Meadows, along with their wives, were roommates last spring in Port Charlotte…Brandon received an urgent call from his wife, Madison, to say a brush fire was threatening their neighborhood…Meadows was scratched from that day's lineup as the two rushed home…he said, "I felt like I was in NASCAR. Last thing we heard was 'we can't get out, there's smoke everywhere' and I was terrified what might actually happen."…the fire destroyed 220 surrounding acres but the couples safely returned to the house the next day.
- Brandon stayed in shape waiting for the 2020 season to begin by taking batting practice in a homemade garage setup…Madison, a former softball standout at Maryland, threw to him… he posted a clip of her working up-and-in on Twitter and she shared it, asking, "Why did you not show me dicing you with my cutter?"
- Brandon is the unofficial taste-tester for Sweet and Lowe Bakery, a home business Madison started in June 2020 after photos of her desserts gained traction on her social media accounts… she creates custom bakes out of their kitchen… Brandon sometimes pitches in with the dishes.
- He and Madison built a country home in College Grove, Tenn. …they live there in the offseason with their dog, Collie, a miniature bernedoodle—a mix of a Bernese mountain dog and poodle.
- Brandon maximizes the power potential in his body by implementing a routine of drills using bands and bungee cords to promote posture, balance and the transfer of energy…he uses these to create awareness and feel with his swing.
- Brandon launched the "Home Runs for Hope" program in 2019…for each home run Brandon hits, he and Madison donate $100 to the Crisis Center of Tampa Bay, matched by the Rays Baseball Foundation…his 14 HR last season raised $2,800…mental health has heavily impacted his family and he wants to ensure no one feels helpless when dealing with mental health issues.
- Brandon discovered his key to success while in the minor leagues, which he shared with the Tampa Bay Times…"A big thing has been eating applesauce. When I got to Triple-A Durham, I was struggling and they had those GoGo squeezes in the fridge and I was like, 'Ah, applesauce. I haven't had a lot of fruits lately.' Had one, ended up hitting a home run. Had 3 hits that day. And I was like, 'I've got to have applesauce tomorrow.' The next day, I [homered twice], and I just absolutely took off."

X-RAY REPORT

- Josh is the younger brother of former Rays first baseman Nate Lowe…the two were teammates with Class-A Bowling Green and Class-A Charlotte in the Rays system…they have a close relationship but have always been competitive.
- When Josh makes his Rays debut, he and Nate will become the second set of brothers to each play for the Rays, joining shortstop Julio Lugo (2003-06) and right-handed pitcher Ruddy Lugo (2006-07)…Julio and Ruddy spent about three months on the roster together in 2006 before Julio was traded to the Dodgers.
- Josh's father, David, was selected by the Mariners in the fifth round in 1986 out of Satellite Beach (Fla.) High School, but instead accepted an appointment to the U.S. Naval Academy…David played football and baseball at Navy as a linebacker and pitcher…he went on to serve as a Navy pilot for 20 years.
- One of the family's favorite stories involves a game of catch and a broken window…when the two brothers were young, they were warned not to attempt knuckleballs in the backyard… moments later, Josh uncorked a sidearm knuckler that sailed directly through a back window.
- Josh picked up cycling as a way to stay in shape during the delayed start to the 2020 season… he and Nate both purchased road bikes, with Josh opting for a Trek…he estimates putting around 30-40 miles on it weekly.

The home run didn't hurt."…soon after, the catch was commemorated with an officially-licensed T-shirt.
- He twice made headlines late in his rookie season for his large pieces of bubble gum…in an August game against the Phillies, his gum fell out of his mouth and caused a brief delay when the batter and pitcher noticed it on the center field grass…just over a month later, he managed to keep his gum in his mouth but casually blew a bubble while tracking down a fly ball.

X-RAY REPORT

- When he was young, Brendan would call his father, Bruce, on his way home from work several times a week to ask him to go to a local field and take batting practice…he'd hit every ball in the bucket, then the two would pick them up and do it again.
- Brendan's travel ball coach predicted he would play Division I baseball when he was just 12 years old…his father responded, "Let's wait and see"…to this day, when his father sees the coach, he doesn't miss the chance to say, "I told you."
- He made his varsity debut as a freshman in high school…his first at-bat resulted in a 2-run single and he completed an immaculate 1st inning by striking out the side on nine pitches…the game was called after one inning due to snow.
- Brendan's parents bought a gently-used Saturn sedan to travel to his baseball commitments when he was young…when they got rid of it, it had close to 200,000 miles racked up with routine trips from western Pennsylvania to tournaments in North Carolina and South Carolina and 1,000-mile round trips to Louisville when Brendan's Cardinals were at home…he bought them a new car after he was drafted.

- Underwent left labrum surgery, performed by Dr. Neil ElAttrache in Los Angeles, on Aug 19 and missed the entire season.
- Ranked by Baseball America as the No. 7 prospect in the Rays system following the season… the publication also tabbed him as having the Best Control in the organization for a third consecutive year.
- His rookie status is still intact entering 2021.

- Austin and Brandon Lowe, along with their wives, shared a house during spring training last year…just before a scheduled game, Brandon received an urgent call from his wife and relayed, "Dude, our neighborhood is on fire"… Austin was scratched from the lineup and the two rushed to their rental home…the fire consumed 220 acres around the Rotonda West area in Port Charlotte, but the two were able to safely return to the house the next evening.
- Austin and his wife, Alexis, adopted their golden retriever, Maylee, in 2017…Maylee helped his swing stay sharp during quarantine, running down balls as he took casual batting practice.
- He loves to fish, and the biggest fish he has ever caught was in Florida: an 80-pound tarpon that took an hour to reel in…when Austin and Alexis got married in 2018, their cake was decorated to look like a fish leaping out of the water…the cake read: "To my Catch of a Lifetime."
- His brother, Parker, is an outfielder selected by the Tigers in the second round of the 2018 Amateur Draft…four and a half years younger, Parker is two inches taller than Austin…Austin was able to watch Parker's selection on television…as kids, Austin broke Parker's collarbone on a trampoline bouncing him over the gate…the two work out together in the offseason.
- Austin and Parker both wore No. 16 for the Grayson High School baseball team…the Rams jointly honored the brothers' success by retiring their number at a ceremony on the field in 2019…the school commemorated the moment by unveiling a sign shaped like a jersey, bearing their shared name and number.
- Austin's dad, Kenny, played football and baseball at Morehead State, earning first team All-Ohio Valley Conference honors as a third baseman… his mother, Staci, played softball for Georgia Southern and then Georgia State.
- Austin grew up rooting for Atlanta sports teams, especially the Braves, and calls Chipper Jones his favorite player.

X-RAY REPORT

- Growing up, he idolized catcher Iván Rodríguez…the Hall of Famer and 13-time Gold Glove Award winner is his greatest inspiration.
- In 2016, Francisco hit safely in 50 consecutive games in Cleveland's system, the longest streak for a minor leaguer since 1954…he only became aware of his hitting streak after crossing 40+ games…the streak appeared to be snapped at 49 games when he reached base on an error and a walk, but the error on a grounder to third base was flipped to a hit an hour after the game concluded by official scorer Malcolm Haley.

2020 SEASON

- Appeared in 17 games and made 12 starts, all at catcher, for the Padres…missed 27 games from Aug 17–Sep 15 with a left thumb contusion… appeared once as a pinch-hitter following his reinstatement but was optioned to the alternate training site on Sep 19.
- Finished the season hitless in his last 12 AB and in a 1-for-25 drought…his only hit over that span was his lone homer of 2020, a 2-run shot on Aug 9 vs. ARI, off Taylor Widener.
- Played 18 games for the Estrellas de Oriente in the Dominican Winter League.
- Was one of four players acquired by the Rays from the Padres on Dec 29 for former Cy Young Award winner Blake Snell.

- Made his first career Opening Day roster.
- Increased his avg. from .200 on July 16 to .265 at season's end…hit .328/.371/.534 (38-for-116) with 7 2B, 5 HR and 14 RBI in his final 42 games.
- Split the 2018 season between Triple-A and the majors in the Indians and Padres organizations… acquired by the Padres on July 19 for relievers Brad Hand and Adam Cimber.

X-RAY REPORT

- His spikes from that magical moment in Game 4 of the World Series are on display at the "Autumn Glory" exhibit at the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum in Cooperstown.
- Brett split a pair of dance battles last season against Randy Arozarena…straw polling indicates Brett was victorious after the Rays clinch of the AL East, but couldn't complete the sweep in their rematch following the ALDS.
- He claimed No. 35 after Nate Lowe was traded to the Rangers…the number was worn by childhood friend, Nate Richardson, who was one of four students and one of three from Seminole High killed in a car crash in 2009…the number was taken in previous stops with the Brewers and Royals…after his draft selection, he wrote a letter on Nate's MySpace page including "I want to make a promise right here, Nate, if I make it to the big leagues that first game when I walk out onto the field I'll be wearing the No. 35 so your parents and our friends and family will not only see me but will also remember you and what you meant to the city of Seminole, as well."
- Brett split the $40,000 he earned last year through appearances and video game events among various charities throughout the Tampa Bay area…some of the organizations he contributed to include Providing Advocacy and Recognizing Capabilities (PARC), the Children's Dream Fund, Carlton Manor, Pet Pal Animal Shelter, Largo's Central Park Performing Arts Center and the Specialty Fit Foundation.
- Brett grew up a Rays fan living in nearby Seminole…he attended his first Rays Fan Fest at Tropicana Field at just 2 years old.
- Macho Man Randy Savage was his neighbor during middle and high school before he passed away…Randy would frequently stop Brett on his way home from school and invite him to play basketball at his house…Brett never won.
- In 2018, when he played at Tropicana Field for the first time as a major leaguer, Section 127 became the unofficial "Brett Phillips Area"…his sister reserved 200 seats, but an estimated 1,000 friends and family purchased tickets.
- His enthusiastic laugh is legendary around the game, with teammates who aren't aware beforehand sometimes caught completely off guard…"Nothing can prepare you for it," said Brandon Lowe…a video created by the Brewers showcasing his excitable sense of humor regularly makes the rounds on social media as people discover his laugh for the first time.

- Helped the Rays become the fifth team in World Series history to record a walk-off win with the team trailing…joined the Blue Jays in Game 6 vs. PHI in 1993 (Joe Carter home run), the Dodgers in Game 1 vs. OAK in 1988 (Kirk Gibson home run), the Royals in Game 6 vs. STL in 1985 (Dane Iorg single) and the Dodgers in Game 4 vs. NYY in 1947 (Cookie Lavagetto double).

X-RAY REPORT

- While matters of racial justice took center stage in 2020, Colin voiced support for efforts to launch a new inquiry into the 2014 killing of Tamir Rice by police in Cleveland…Rice was shot and killed while playing with a toy pellet gun… Colin shared that he'd had a similar encounter under the same circumstances at Tamir's age but had been calmly approached and educated by the officer…"The difference between Tamir's mom losing a son and mine not even knowing about this story is the difference in the color of our skin. There was no justice served in this case. It's time to take another look at it."
- Colin and his fiancée, Jessica, purchased a home in Tampa last October…the two plan to be married this November in Dallas.
- He won his school's third grade spelling bee to earn the right to compete at the district level, where he was subsequently "destroyed" and made an early exit.
- Colin was called up to make his debut for the second game of a doubleheader in Boston…the move was not official until the first game concluded, so he was not permitted in the Rays clubhouse until that time…as the first game ended, he was still sitting in an Uber ride in traffic…he eventually got out and walked from the downtown hotel to Fenway Park with his large Rays bag as Red Sox fans streamed the opposite direction…he arrived drenched in sweat 40 minutes before the game and was on the mound in the 2nd inning.
- He only played basketball up to his freshman year of high school, but has been able to dunk since his senior year…the first time he dunked on someone was at a local gym, just in time for his best friend's dad to walk in and witness it—the only person he knew who did.
- Colin was college teammates with Jalen Beeks and bullpen catcher Jean Ramirez at Arkansas.

- Underwent Tommy John surgery on his left elbow on July 29, performed by Dr. Keith Meister in Arlington, Texas.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Led AL lefty relievers with a .181 opp avg. (33-for-182), and ranked 7th overall among AL relievers…min. 50 IP, his 12.54 SO/9 IP ratio ranked 4th among AL lefties behind NYY Aroldis Chapman (13.42), BOS Chris Sale (13.32) and CLE Brad Hand (13.19).
- Yielded 9 HR in 51.2 IP, but only 1 HR in his last 23 apps spanning 22 IP…27.3 pct. (9 of 33) of his hits allowed were homers…six of his 9 HR either tied the game (2) or gave the opponent a lead (4), with all six of those in the 7th inning (or later).
- On June 8 at BOS (G2), became the third Ray all-time to enter in relief and take the loss in his major league debut, following Álex Torres on July 18, 2011 vs. NYY and Franklin Núñez on Aug 14, 2004 at TEX…inherited 2-on, 1-out in the 2nd inning and stranded both, then yielded

- On June 16 vs. LAA, retired all 6 BF, including 3 SO, for his first career win.
- On July 26 at TOR, entered with a 3-1 lead and got three flyouts for his first career save.
- On Aug 29 at HOU, started the 5th inning and allowed 5 BB, most by a Rays reliever since Justin Marks (5) on Sep 9, 2016 at NYY.
- Went 2-2 with a 6.26 ERA (27.1-IP, 19-ER) with 48 SO in 20 apps (2 starts) for Durham…from the start of May until he was selected to the major league roster, went 2-0 with a 3.38 ERA (18.2-IP, 7-ER) and 33 SO in 13 apps (2 starts) with the Bulls, including 11 scoreless outings.
- POSTSEASON: Pitched in all 5 games of the ALDS against the Astros…became the third rookie to appear in 5 games of a Division Series, joining WAS Sammy Solis in 2016 and TOR Aaron Sanchez in 2015…his only run allowed was a Robinson Chirinos homer in Game 4.
- In 2018, named Minor League Reliever of the Year by the Rays Baseball Operations department…began the season with Double-A Jackson in the D-backs organization, then pitched for Double-A Montgomery and Durham in the Rays system following a May 1 acquisition as a player to be named in the Steven Souza Jr. trade.
- Between the two organizations, went 6-0 with a 0.82 ERA (66-IP, 6-ER) and 110 SO for a 15.0 SO/9 IP ratio…no minor league pitcher with as many innings recorded a better SO/9 IP ratio…struck out 45.6 pct. of his batters faced.
- Named the Rays Minor League Pitcher of the Month for June, going 1-0 with a 0.57 ERA (15.2-IP, 1-ER) and 28 SO.

- In 2017, went 3-1 with a 1.25 ERA (50.1-IP, 7-ER) and 81 SO in 31 apps between Class-A Visalia and Class-A Kane County, the 6th-lowest ERA among full-season minor leaguers (min. 50 IP).
- Named to the Diamondbacks Organizational All-Star Team by MLB.com.
- Went 1-0 with a 3.31 ERA (16.1-IP, 6-ER) in 11 apps for the Salt River Rafters in the Arizona Fall League.
- Ranked by Baseball America as the No. 29 prospect in the D-backs system following the season.
- In 2016, pitched for Short-A Hillsboro in his first professional season…four of his first 5 apps were starts, then pitched exclusively out of the bullpen the rest of the season.

AMATEUR CAREER

- Selected by the Diamondbacks in the 14th round of the 2016 Amateur Draft out of Dallas Baptist University, the same program that produced former Ray Ben Zobrist.
- Began his collegiate career at the University of Arkansas…underwent Tommy John surgery following his sophomore season.
- Previously selected by the Orioles in the fifth round of the 2012 Amateur Draft, but did not sign.

ACQUIRED From the Cincinnati Reds in exchange for RH Riley O'Brien, 8/28/20

X-RAY REPORT

- Cody is an avid golfer, gamer and sneaker collector…he has a couple hundred pairs of sneakers in his collection…he started collecting after he was drafted and saw shoe styles from around the country…the collection is kept in a designated room of his house, but he tries to actually wear them and not just collect…during his first homestand with the Rays, he wore a different pair of Jordans every day…the cleats he wore in 2020 were all Jordan brand as well.
- He was a "huge" David Price fan while in high school and college, watching him since his days at Vanderbilt…he had the opportunity to meet David during a pre-draft workout for the Rays at Tropicana Field in 2013…David was tipped off that Cody was a big fan and they talked for 30 minutes on the field and then another hour in the clubhouse…the conversation went long enough for his parents to wonder if he would ever leave…David signed a ball for him when they crossed paths in the big leagues in 2017 when the Reds faced Boston.
- By blind luck, Cody purchased a home in Tampa a year prior to joining the Rays…he visited a friend in the area one winter and decided he needed to move permanently upon returning to a freezing Memphis.
- He was named the Carolina League's starting pitcher in the 2015 California-Carolina All-Star Game in Rancho Cucamonga, Calif. …he needed just 11 pitches to retire the side in his only inning…his first batter faced was Brett Phillips.

- Added to the active roster after the Opening Day rainout forced the Reds to add a fifth starter… was scheduled to start the fifth game of the season, but it also was postponed…threw a simulated game the next day and made his season debut with a start on April 9 at PHI.
- His last 6 apps came from the starting rotation, going 1-2 with a 4.13 ERA (28.1-IP, 13-ER).
- On Sep 15 at CHC, pitched five scoreless innings and recorded a career-high 10 SO in a 1-0 Reds loss…became the third Reds lefty with double-digit strikeouts at Wrigley Field, joining Pete Schourek on July 24, 1994 and Johnny Vander Meer, who did it three times from 1941-42.

- On Sep 16 at PIT, retired Gregory Polanco, his only batter faced, for his first career save.
- Ranked 7th among Reds minor leaguers with 102 SO…led the International League with 10 HBP and his 61 BB were 3rd-most in the IL.

- Split the 2015 season between the Royals and Reds organizations…was one of three lefties traded by the Royals for Johnny Cueto.
- Went 13-9 with a 2.41 ERA (145.2-IP, 39-ER) in 26 apps (23 starts) spanning three teams and two organizations…combined for a .235 opp avg. (127-for-541) and yielded only 7 HR.
- Held lefties to a .163 avg. (25-for-153) with 0 HR.

- After pitching for the independent Gateway Grizzlies in 2015, Trevor entered the hiring process for the U.S. Border Patrol...he decided to give baseball one more shot in 2016 and signed with Miami that July.
- Trevor spent two offseasons as a substitute teacher for his home school district...he would wake every morning at 4 a.m. to go to the gym, then head to school to teach anything from science to physical education...he'd go to the field afterward to work on his pitching.

- On Sep 18 at BAL, pitched a perfect 9th inning for his first career save…became the 11th Rays pitcher with a save, tying the single-season club record…the Rays tied the major league record the next day when Ryan Thompson got one.
- On Sep 21 at NYM, pitched the 8th inning and recorded the second out with a strikeout of Jeff McNeil, who became his first strikeout victim since May 7, 2018 vs. MIN (Joe Mauer).

2021 AMATEUR DRAFT

The annual First-Year Player Draft is scheduled for July 11-13. For the first time, it will be held as part of the All-Star Game festivities in Atlanta. The first day of the draft, which has been moved to a Sunday this year, will again air exclusively on MLB Network.

The Rays hold the No. 28 overall selection. In 2020, the Rays selected RHP Nick Bitsko out of Central Bucks East (Penn.) High School with the No. 24 overall selection.

This year is the 57th Amateur Draft and the 26th draft in Rays history. It was on June 8, 1965 that the Oakland Athletics selected Arizona State outfielder Rick Monday with the first-ever pick. Since its inception, over 67,000 players have been selected in the First-Year Player Draft. The Rays have made 1,231 of those. Among the major sports, baseball was the last to adopt a draft. The NFL was first in 1936, followed by the NBA in 1947 and NHL in 1962.

X-RAY REPORT

- Six Rays staffers, including Kevin Cash and Erik Neander, slipped away from the Winter Meetings in San Diego in 2019 to drive to Los Angeles and meet with Yoshi in person following an introductory phone call…the Rays presented a 20-page information guide on the team and Tampa Bay area in an effort to elevate his interest in signing…the group met at a facility owned by Nolan Arenado, who shared the same agent.
- Yoshi became the fourth Japanese-born player in Rays history, following Hideo Nomo (2005), Akinori Iwamura (2007-09) and Hideki Matsui (2012)…Iwamura is the only other Japanese-born player to begin his major league career with the Rays—he signed a three-year contract after playing with the Tokyo Yakult Swallows.
- Yoshi spent 10 seasons with the Yokohama DeNA BayStars in Japan's Nippon Professional Baseball Organization…following his signing with the Rays, Yokohama shared a 2-minute, 25-second farewell video on social media saying, "a samurai from Yokohama is making the move to Tampa Bay"…the number five in Kanji is pronounced 'go,' meaning the length of the video could be read as "two-two-go."
- During his at-bats, Yoshi's home crowd would extend their arms and chant: "Up high into the sky of Yokohama, hit a home run, Tsutsugo!"
- Yoshi wore No. 25 for seven of his 10 seasons in NPB…the number was bestowed to him by former teammate and fellow NPB star Shuichi Murata…the gesture is seen as a great honor.
- He was named Yokohama's youngest team captain in franchise history in 2015.
- He has a fraternal twin sister who he says "looks nothing like me"…her talents favor tennis.
- Yoshi picked up "some broken Spanish" during his time playing for the Leones del Escogido in the Dominican Winter League…he says it is his hidden talent.

2020 SEASON

- Appeared in 51 games and made 42 starts (19-DH,12-LF, 11-3B) in his first major league season…led the team and ranked 2nd among major league rookies with 26 BB behind SEA Kyle Lewis (34)…tied for 3rd among rookies with 27 runs and tied for 4th with 8 HR.
- Hit leadoff seven times, all in his last 10 games.
- Had a higher avg. against lefties (.243) than righties (.183), but 35 of his 42 starts came vs. RHP.

X-RAY REPORT

- Ryan conducted a 12-day holiday giveaway through his Instagram account (@yarbro48) following the 2020 season…each day, he posted a question with a prize, such as a signed baseball, offered to the top response…the idea came as a result of Ryan looking for ways to engage with fans after not being able to do so last season.
- Ryan and his wife, Nicole, donated a collection of school supplies, hygiene products and uniforms to Campbell Park Elementary last year… they also partnered with Buddy Brew Coffee in Tampa to deliver coffee and pastries to the St. Joseph's Children's Hospital critical care unit during the initial quarantine.
- With the popular Reading with the Rays program restricted to a virtual setting, Ryan took up the mantle as its top reader in 2020…he recorded himself reading three different children's books and the videos were shared on a variety of digital platforms.
- Ryan's alma mater, Old Dominion, lines its outfield wall with photos of major leaguers that have come through the program…Ryan and Rays bench coach Matt Quatraro were both invited back for a banquet in honor of being added to the wall in January 2019.
- He grew up a Rays fan and kept some 2008 World Series gear in his bedroom of his Lakeland home, which he found after he was acquired in a four-player trade from the Mariners…he admired David Price, James Shields and Scott Kazmir as a youngster, and still has a Kazmir jersey he received as a 15-year-old hanging in his closet.
- Ryan and Nicole were married in 2019 at the Omni Hotel and Resort at ChampionsGate…past and present Rays in attendance included Austin Meadows, Austin Pruitt, Mallex Smith, Ryne Stanek and Shane McClanahan…former Rays pitcher Jake Faria was a groomsman.
- Nicole won a national championship in lacrosse with Florida Southern in 2016…she began playing when she was eight but happily retired from the sport when her collegiate career ended.
- Ryan and Nicole own a 3-year-old chocolate lab named Cooper.

X-RAY REPORT

- Mike and his wife, Alyssa, have two children: Rhett (1) and Paisley, who was born in March 2020…their beagle, Zoey, and Australian shepherd, Sadie, round out the family…a silver lining to last year's delayed season was that Mike was home for several months around Paisley's birth.
- Following his return from paternity leave on April 22, 2019, Mike remarked to media pregame that he hoped to benefit from newfound "dad strength"…he later belted his first home run of the season in the 7th inning—a tie-breaking 2-run shot…after the game, he told the Tampa Bay Times: "It was something special. And then to get the [photos of Rhett watching] and everything afterward, it's the icing on the cake."
- Mike's parents met in Italy while playing in the country's premier baseball and softball leagues…his father, Greg, was selected by the Yankees in the 1981 Amateur Draft and is a southeast crosschecker for the Reds…his mother, Paola, was a catcher on the Italian national softball team…she was born in Bologna, Italy, and taught him to speak a little Italian as a kid, but he lost it as he grew older.
- Mike and Alyssa were married in October 2012, after his junior season at Florida…they left the next day for their "honeymoon" in Arizona for Mike to participate in the Arizona Fall League.
- Mike grew up a Marlins fan and has memories of attending games at Joe Robbie Stadium, now Hard Rock Stadium.

2020 SEASON

- Appeared in 28 games and made 25 starts, all at catcher, in an injury-shortened season…placed on the 10-day IL (left oblique strain) on Aug 29, retroactive to Aug 26, and reinstated on Sep 20.
- Recorded 3 HR and 9 RBI in his final 14 games, after 1 HR and 1 RBI in his first 14 games.
- Struck out in 37 of 84 PA (44.0 pct.), 4th in the majors (min. 50 PA)…the highest rate for a qualified hitter was MIN Miguel Sanó (43.9).
- Eight of his 11 hits (72.7 pct.) went for extra bases (4-2B, 4-HR), including eight of nine before hitting a pair of singles in his final start.
- Hit .045 (1-for-22) against left-handed pitching and his only hit was a 3-run homer on Aug 20 at NYY, off Luis Avilan…hit .189 (10-for-53) with 4 2B, 3 HR and 7 RBI against righties.
- Hit .250 (3-for-12) with 1 2B, 2 HR and 4 RBI in 5 games (all starts) against the Yankees and .127 (8-for-63) with 3 2B, 2 HR and 5 RBI in 23 games (20 starts) against all other opponents…doubled and homered in separate games off Gerrit Cole.
- Made his sixth Opening Day roster and fifth active roster, all starts at catcher.
- On Aug 19-20 at NYY, homered in back-to-back games for the first time since Aug 7-10, 2019 (2)…the second of these was a 3-run homer in the 6th inning, helping the Rays complete a 3-game sweep and take over first place in the division.
- POSTSEASON: Hit .170 (9-for-53) with 4 HR and 8 RBI while starting 18 of the club's 20 games at catcher…his 4 HR tied KC Salvador Perez in 2015, BOS Jason Varitek in 2003, NYM Mike Piazza in 2000 and OAK Gene Tenace in 1972 for the 2nd-most by a catcher (while playing the position) in a single postseason behind CLE Sandy Alomar (5) in 1997.

- Became the first player in major league history to hit under .150 in the regular season and then hit multiple homers in the postseason.
- In Game 2 of the Wild Card Series vs. TOR, hit a 2-run homer off Hyun Jin Ryu in the 2nd inning…became the third catcher in franchise history to hit a postseason homer, joining José Lobaton's walk-off homer in Game 3 of the ALDS vs. BOS and Kelly Shoppach's multi-HR game in Game 1 of the 2011 ALDS vs. TEX.
- Homered in Games 2 and 7 of the ALCS vs. HOU, both of Lance McCullers Jr.—and these 2 HR went a combined 884 feet…in Game 7, became the first Rays catcher to homer in a "winner take all" game…became the eighth catcher (9th time) all-time to homer in a Game 7, first since CHC David Ross in the 2016 World Series.
- After becoming a free agent, re-signed with the Rays on Dec 17 for a one-year, $2 million contract with a club option for 2022.

> "The Rays have a particularly challenging pitching staff to catch. … They come from a wide array of arm angles, all throwing in the upper 90s or low 100s, with movement. … Zunino does a masterful job of handling them.

NON-ROSTER INVITES

Over the past several years, many players who have come to Rays camp as non-roster invites went on to impact the big league club. In 2020, three players who entered spring training as non-roster invites made the Opening Day roster and nine spent time on the Rays active roster. This includes right-handed pitcher Ryan Thompson and lefthanders Josh Fleming (who went 5-0 in seven appearances) and Ryan Sherriff. All three of these pitchers were part of the World Series roster.

RAYS & MLB VISIT CUBA

On March 20-22, 2016, the Rays traveled to Havana, Cuba, after being selected via lottery to be the first Major League Baseball team to visit Cuba since the 1999 Orioles. The voyage coincided with the historic diplomatic visit of President Barack Obama, the first sitting U.S. President to visit Cuba since Calvin Coolidge in 1928. Among the 55,000 in attendance at Estadio Latinoamericano for the March 21 contest were many dignitaries, including President Obama and the First Lady, Cuban President Raúl Castro, Cuban-born stars Luis Tiant and José Cardenal, MLB Commissioner Rob Manfred, Derek Jeter and Joe Torre. The Rays defeated the Cuban National Team, 4-1.

There were 22 Cuban-born players on 2020 Opening Day rosters, the 3rd-most of any country behind the U.S. and Venezuela. The Rays have had 13 Cuban-born players in franchise history, including Randy Arozarena and Yandy Díaz.

THREE-BATTER MINIMUM

Beginning in 2020, the starting pitcher and any relief pitcher must pitch to a minimum of three batters, until the batters are retired or reach base, or until the half-inning is over. An exception exists if the substitute pitcher sustains injury or illness which, in the Crew Chief's judgment, incapacitates him from pitching. This rule was created in an effort to reduce the number of pitching changes and, in turn, cut down the average game time.

SPECIAL SEATS

Fans at Tropicana Field will notice two golden seats, one white seat and one seat memorialized with a plaque in the right field seating area. The golden seat in the third row of Section 148 is the location where the Rays first home run landed, a two-run shot hit by Wade Boggs off DET Justin Thompson in the 6th inning of the Rays inaugural game on March 31, 1998. The other golden seat, in Section 144, marks the spot where Boggs' 3,000th hit landed, a two-run home run off CLE Chris Haney on Aug 7, 1999. The white seat in Section 140 (Row T, Seat 10) marks the spot where Dan Johnson's two-out, 9th-inning, game-tying home run landed against the Yankees in Game 162 of the 2011 season. Three innings later, Evan Longoria hit a walk-off homer to left field giving the Rays an 8-7 win, clinching the AL Wild Card.

Finally, on July 11, 2015, the Rays dedicated a special seat above the right field walkway that will always remain empty in remembrance of prisoners of war (POW) and those missing in action (MIA). Then-president of baseball operations Matt Silverman and pitcher Matt Moore joined World War II veteran and former POW Andrew H. Hines Jr. and Rep. David Jolly of the 13th Congressional District in the pregame ceremony.

MAJOR LEAGUE WAIVER RULES

There are two types of waiver requests: outright waivers and unconditional release waivers. Both types are irrevocable. Outright waivers are required for a major league club to assign a player outright to a minor league club. Unconditional release waivers can be secured at any point during the year to release a player. After the July 31 trade deadline, the only way clubs can acquire major league players until after the World Series is through waiver claims–a new rule introduced in 2019.

CATWALK RUNDOWN

The four catwalks located above the playing surface at Tropicana Field are labeled the A-, B-, C- and D-rings, with the lowest being the D-ring. Any fair ball that hits the lower two catwalks (C, D) is a home run. A fair ball that hits one of the top two catwalks (A, B) is in play. Any fair ball that stays on one of the top two catwalks is a ground-rule double. A foul ball that hits one of the catwalks is a dead ball.

- The D-ring ranges from 59 feet above the playing surface in CF to 121 feet behind home plate.
- The C-ring ranges from 99 feet in CF to 146 feet behind home plate.
- The B-ring ranges from 142 feet in CF to 173 feet behind home plate.
- The A-ring ranges from 181 feet in CF to 194 feet behind home plate.

In 23 seasons, 181 fair balls have hit catwalks: C-ring (96), B (41), D (38), A (6). This includes two during the relocated Rangers-Astros series in 2017 due to the devastation caused by Hurricane Harvey. Not included in that total is one fair ball that struck the roof, off the bat of MIN Miguel Sanó on Aug 7, 2016.

Four fair balls have hit catwalks in the postseason: Evan Longoria homered off the C-ring in Game 1 of the 2008 ALDS vs. CWS, B.J. Upton homered off the C-ring in Game 6 of the 2008 ALCS vs. BOS, Willy Adames homered off the D-ring in Game 4 of the 2019 ALDS vs. HOU and TOR Danny Jansen homered off the D-ring in Game 2 of the 2020 AL Wild Card Series.

Seven times in Tropicana Field history, a fair ball has hit a catwalk and not come down: TEX Joey Gallo, June 30, 2019 (D-ring); TB Avisaíl García, April 18, 2019 vs. BAL (D-ring); TB John Jaso, Sep 17, 2015 vs. BAL (C-ring); BOS David Ortiz, Sep 17, 2008 (D-ring); BOS Jason Bay, Sep 15, 2008 (C-ring); Carlos Peña, May 26, 2008 vs. TEX (B-ring); and José Canseco, May 2, 1999 vs. DET (B-ring).

Evan Longoria is the all-time leader in fair balls off the catwalk (11) and catwalk home runs (8). Alex Rodriguez and David Ortiz hit the catwalks five times, most of any visiting players. Carlos Peña hit the catwalks five times in 2007, most by any player in one season. All told, 39 different Rays have hit balls off the catwalks in the regular season: Evan Longoria (10), Jonny Gomes (8), Carlos Peña (8), Greg Vaughn (6), Fred McGriff (4), Steven Souza Jr. (3), José Canseco (3), Ben Grieve (3), Willy Adames (2), Curt Casali (2), Carl Crawford (2), Vinny Castilla (2), Avisaíl García (2), Travis Lee (2), Rocco Baldelli (1), Tim Beckham (1), Corey Dickerson (1), Logan Forsythe (1), Nick Franklin (1), Aubrey Huff (1), John Jaso (1), Matt Joyce (1), Pete LaForest (1), Brandon Lowe (1), Brendan McKay (1), Brad Miller (1), Logan Morrison (1), Eduardo Perez (1), Tommy Pham (1), Sean Rodríguez (1), Jared Sandberg (1), Kelly Shoppach (1), Grady Sizemore (1), Paul Sorrento (1), Bubba Trammell (1), B.J. Upton (1), Rickie Weeks Jr. (1), Gerald Williams (1) and Randy Winn (1).

LET'S PLAY TWO!

The Rays have played 34 doubleheaders in their history, going 5-14-15 (W-L-T). They are 2-4-7 in traditional doubleheaders and 3-10-8 in split doubleheaders. The five times they swept a doubleheader occurred on Sep 17, 2020 at BAL, May 1, 2014 at BOS, June 24, 2012 at PHI, April 28, 2011 at MIN and Sep 23, 2008 at BAL.

Four of these doubleheaders occurred at Tropicana Field, all of them traditional, and each time they split the twin bill.

- The first Tropicana Field doubleheader, Sep 30, 2004 vs. DET, was a result of games rescheduled due to Hurricane Frances four weeks prior. They lost the first game, 8-0, and won the second, 6-4.
- On June 10, 2017 vs. OAK, the Rays hosted MLB's first scheduled twin bill since July 16, 2011 (Angels at Athletics). They won the first game, 6-5, on a 10th-inning walk-off single by Evan Longoria. Forty minutes later, they began the next game, a 7-2 loss.
- On Sep 3, 2019 vs. BAL, the series finale was moved up a day as part of a doubleheader as Hurricane Dorian approached. The Rays lost the first game, 4-2, and won the second, 2-0.
- On Aug 8, 2020 vs. NYY, a schedule change due to the COVID-19 pandemic prompted a doubleheader. The Rays lost the first game, 8-4, and won the second, 5-3.

STORMY WEATHER

The Rays have had games affected by five hurricanes:

- Hurricane Dorian (Sep 2-4, 2019): MLB moved up the Rays-Orioles series finale to be part of a traditional doubleheader on Sep 3—just the third doubleheader in Tropicana Field history. The Rays split the twin bill, and won two of three games in the series.
- Hurricane Irma (Sep 11-13, 2017): MLB moved the three-game series against the Yankees from Tropicana Field to Citi Field in New York. The Rays lost two of three games. It was the fifth time in baseball history that weather concerns forced the relocation of games to a neutral site—but the second in a span of two weeks.
- Hurricane Jeanne (Sep 26, 2004): The Rays and Blue Jays were canceled at Tropicana Field with the storm approaching. The previous night's game, which began at 6:16 p.m., was played with the caveat that no inning could start after 9:15 p.m. The curfew was a precaution to make sure the Blue Jays were able to fly out of Florida after the game.
- Hurricane Frances (Sep 3-5, 2004): MLB postponed two games against the Tigers (Sep 4-5), and the Tigers left St. Pete after the Sep 3 series opener to avoid the storm. The Rays were scheduled to play a Labor Day doubleheader at Yankee Stadium on Sep 6, but were unable to leave Tampa International Airport until 3 p.m. that day. They arrived in New York at 5:25 p.m. and played a single game that night, a 7-4 loss which began at 7 p.m. The postponed game was eventually made up in New York on Sep 23. The Rays and Tigers played (and split) a doubleheader on Sep 30—the first of three ever played at Tropicana Field.
- Hurricane Gordon (Sep 17, 2000): The Rays and Athletics were postponed at Tropicana Field with the storm bearing down. Instead of playing that afternoon, the Athletics flew to Baltimore. The game was never made up, one of three such games in club history.

In addition, Tropicana Field served as a neutral host for a similar situation, as the Rangers-Astros series Aug 29-31, 2017 was moved from Houston due to the devastation caused by Hurricane Harvey. The Astros won two of three games.

* A.L. WILD CARD

SEASON SUMMARIES 2020-1998

2020 / 40-20, .667, 1st, +7.0

The season was shortened to 60 games as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic…Opening Day, which was originally scheduled for March 26, took place on July 24…the Rays won their third AL East title, swept the Blue Jays in the AL Wild Card Series and won "winner take all" games against the Yankees and Astros to advance to the World Series for the second time…the Rays finished the regular season with the best winning pct. in club history…they averaged 4.82 R/G, their highest since 2010 (4.95), and ranked 3rd in the majors with a 3.56 ERA…the Rays had 12 pitchers with a save, tying the major league record set by the 1973 Rangers…from Aug 9–Sep 1, their injured list grew from four to a club-record-tying 13 players—and they went a major-league-best 18-4 (.818) over that stretch.

2019 / 96-66, .593, 2nd, -7.0, Wild Card

The Rays advanced to the postseason for the fifth time in club history, third as a Wild Card…they won the AL Wild Card Game in Oakland before falling to the Astros in a decisive Game 5 in the ALDS…they recorded their seventh 90-win season in 12 years as the Rays, and their 96 wins fell one shy of the club record (2008)…the Rays used 57 players and 33 pitchers, both setting single-season club records…they led the AL with a 3.65 ERA, becoming the first team in major league history to lead their league in ERA while using at least 33 pitchers…the Rays bullpen led the majors with a 3.66 ERA…the Rays went 48-33 on the road, a team record for road wins in a season…the Rays ended the regular season with a club-record 39 players on their active roster.

The Rays finished with 90 wins, their most since 2013 (92) and tops in the majors among teams missing the postseason…the Rays became the first team in AL history to start 3-12 or worse and finish at least 10 games over .500…they set single-season club records by using 17 starting pitchers and 23 rookies…according to Stats LLC, the Rays were the first team in major league history to use at least 23 rookies and finish at least 18 games over .500…Blake Snell captured the AL Cy Young Award…while popularizing the "opener" concept, the Rays bullpen combined for 824.1 IP, shattering the major league record by 167.1 IP, ahead of the 2012 Rockies (657 IP)…the club's avg. increased by 13 points and on-base pct. increased by 16 points over 2017, both the largest improvements in the majors.

The Rays finished with a 12-win improvement over 2016, matching the 2nd-largest increase in club history…they used a then-club-record 53 players, as 23 players served 27 stints on the injured list and three times a club-record-tying 13 players were on the injured list…they hit a club-record 228 HR but ranked 25th in the majors and 14th in the AL with 694 runs…48 pct. of their runs scored via the home run, the highest rate in club history…the win in the regular season finale was the 1,500th win in franchise history.

The Rays finished with their fewest wins since 2007, due in part to a 3-24 stretch between June 16–July 16, the worst 27-game stretch by any AL club in a season since the Tigers began the 2003 season at 3-25…the offense had a then-club-record 536 XBH and then-club-record 216 HR but scored only 672 runs, joining the 2016 Mets (218 HR, 671 runs) as the first two teams in major league history to hit at least 200 HR and score fewer than 700 runs…they went 13-27 (.325) in 1-run games, the worst mark in franchise history.

2015 / 80-82, .494, 4th, -13.0

The Rays finished 6 games out of a postseason berth despite making 145 roster moves during the season…21 players spent a total of 26 stints on the injured list…rookie manager Kevin Cash was forced to use a then-club-record 18 rookies…the Rays went a major-league-worst 2-13 (.133) in extra innings…Rays starters led the AL with a 3.63 ERA, the third time in five years they did so.

The Rays went 41-40 on the road, their fifth straight season of playing .500 or better in road games…they were 24-42 after 66 games, but went 53-43 the rest of the way…this included a 37-19 stretch to climb to 61-61 on Aug 15, becoming the fourth team in major league history—second Rays team—to reach .500 after being 18 games below…Rays pitchers recorded 22 shutouts, the most by an AL team since the 1972 Athletics (23), one year before the DH rule was instituted…Rays starters posted a 3.48 ERA, best mark by a sub-.500 team since the 1983 Rangers.

2013 / 92-71, .564, 2nd, -5.5, Wild Card

The Rays reached the postseason in their 163rd game, winning a tiebreaker at Texas, the 14th team

in major league history to reach in that fashion…they won the AL Wild Card Game in Cleveland before falling to the Red Sox in 4 games in the ALDS…it was their fourth postseason trip in six years…with only 59 errors, the Rays and Orioles (54) both broke the all-time mark for fewest errors in a season…the Rays committed 55 fewer errors than in 2012 (114), the biggest drop by any team since the 1964 Washington Senators (55)…Rays pitchers posted the lowest opp avg. (.240) in the AL for the fourth straight season, the first AL staff to do so since the 1982-85 Tigers.

DEVIL RAYS INAUGURAL GAME

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA. – Hall of Famers Ted Williams, Stan Musial, Al Lopez and Monte Irvin threw out the ceremonial first pitches and minutes later, at 5:08 p.m. on March 31, 1998, Major League Baseball was born in Tampa Bay as Wilson Álvarez delivered a ball to Tigers leadoff hitter Brian Hunter. Álvarez retired the Tigers 1-2-3 in the 1st inning, then nine of the next 13 batters hit safely. The Rays fell behind 11-0 in the 5th inning before Wade Boggs hit a 2-run homer off Justin Thompson in the 6th to account for the first 2 runs in Rays history. The Devil Rays rallied for 4 runs in the 9th inning and left the tying run in the on-deck circle when Paul Sorrento struck out to end the game. Tampa native Luis Gonzalez hit the first home run at Tropicana Field and added a single and double.

DEVIL RAYS FIRST WIN

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA. – April 1, but it was no joke, the Devil Rays won their first game. In Game 2 of the season-opening series, the Devil Rays rallied from a 3-0, 1st-inning deficit and banged out 18 hits on their way to an 11-8 victory. Rookie Rolando Arrojo earned the win in his major league debut and Fred McGriff had three run-scoring hits including a 2-run single in the Rays decisive 3-run 8th inning. The Rays batted around in the 4th and 8th innings (they batted around four times in the 3-game series). 2-out, RBI singles by Wade Boggs and McGriff helped the Rays jump ahead in the 4th inning after trailing 3-2. The Rays got a hit in every inning except the 5th.

102 YEARS OF MLB IN ST. PETERSBURG

THIS SEASON MARKS THE 102ND YEAR MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL HAS HAD A PRESENCE IN ST. PETERSBURG, DATING BACK TO 1914 WHEN THE ST. LOUIS BROWNS OPENED SPRING TRAINING WORKOUTS.

MLB has also had a presence in St. Pete every year since travel restrictions during World War II prohibited teams from traveling south for spring training from 1943-45.

Nine teams have trained in St. Petersburg: the St. Louis Browns (1914), Philadelphia Phillies (1915-18), Boston Braves (1922-37), New York Yankees (1925-42; 1946-50; 1952-61), St. Louis Cardinals (1938-42; 1946-97), New York Giants (1951), New York Mets (1962-87), Baltimore Orioles (1993-95) and the Devil Rays/Rays (1998-2008).

In 1910, a former Pittsburgh laundry owner named Al Lang moved to St. Petersburg to benefit his health. He soon became interested in the local economy and focused on trying to help the sagging tourism industry. As a baseball fan, he believed the answer was to attract a major league team for spring training.

Lang convinced the St. Louis Browns, under manager Branch Rickey, to move to St. Petersburg in 1914. A baseball committee, formed to attract a major league team to the city, raised $20,000 to buy a large tract of land for a ballpark. The site chosen for the field was Coffee Pot Bayou in St. Pete, where a 2,000-seat grandstand was built.

The first game between two major league teams in St. Petersburg took place on March 27, 1914 as the Grapefruit League was established. The Browns hosted the Chicago Cubs, who were training in Tampa and made the trip by steamboat across Tampa Bay. The Cubs won, 3-2. James Leslie (Hippo) Vaughn was the winning pitcher for the Cubs as an estimated 4,000 looked on.

The resourceful Lang helped engineer a new ballpark, Waterfront Park—located at the approximate site where the parking lot for Al Lang Field is today—and a new arrival, the Boston Braves, christened the new park in 1922. The Yankees joined the Braves in St. Pete in 1925. They would remain for all but four years until 1962, when Casey Stengel and the expansion New York Mets moved in and the Yankees went to Fort Lauderdale.

When the Boston Braves left for Bradenton in 1937, the St. Louis Cardinals came to St. Petersburg the following year and would stay 57 of the next 60 years, missing only the war years.

Minor league baseball in the city began in 1920 as the St. Pete Saints entered the Florida State League.

There was one other professional league in St. Petersburg prior to the Rays arrival in 1998. The Senior Professional Baseball Association—a league of former major leaguers who were 35 years of age or older—sprang up for one season, 1989-90. The St. Pete Pelicans were the first and only league champions.

2020 RAYS POSTSEASON REVIEW

A.L. CHAMPS

The Rays won the AL pennant for the second time in franchise history (2008), but lost the World Series to the Dodgers…they set a major league record by playing 20 postseason games, thanks in part to the expanded playoff format…the Rays were the ninth team in major league history to play a "winner take all" game in the Division Series and League Championship Series but only the third to win both, joining the 2012 Giants and 1981 Dodgers.

- The Rays clinched a postseason spot on Sep 17, won the AL East on Sep 23 and secured the No. 1 seed on Sep 26…it marked the second time in club history the Rays finished with the best record in the AL (2010).

PLAYOFF PAD

With the exception of the Wild Card Series, where the higher seed hosted each game, the rest of the postseason was played at neutral sites due to health, safety and competitive considerations in the COVID-19 pandemic…the Rays spent 17 nights in San Diego for the ALDS and ALCS before flying to Arlington to the World Series, which was played in front of a limited capacity.

POWER BALL

The Rays hit 34 HR, the most in a single postseason in major league history…67.1 pct. (53 of 79) of the Rays runs came on home runs, compared to 41.5 pct. (120 of 289) in the regular season…according to the Elias Sports Bureau, this was the highest rate for a team in a single postseason (min. 10 games) in major league history, ahead of the 1998 Indians (63.2 pct.).

THE GREAT RANDINO

Rookie Randy Arozarena enjoyed a historic postseason, batting .377/.442/.831 (29-for-77) with 10 HR and 14 RBI in 20 games (all starts) and setting major league records for a single postseason in home runs, hits, extra-base hits (14, tied) and total bases (64)...the previous record was 8 HR by TEX Nelson Cruz in 2011, HOU Carlos Beltrán in 2004 and SF Barry Bonds in 2002.

- He was named Most Valuable Player of the ALCS, the first rookie position player to win MVP of a League Championship Series or World Series.
- His 10 HR are the most in a Rays postseason career, ahead of Evan Longoria (9).

FRENCH POETRY

In Game 5 of the ALDS vs. NYY, Mike Brosseau hit a go-ahead, solo homer off Aroldis Chapman in the 8th inning to end a 10-pitch at-bat...it was his second time facing Chapman after he was nearly hit in the head by a 100.5 mph pitch on Sep 1 at NYY.

- He entered as a pinch-hitter in the 6th and became the third player in postseason history to enter as a sub and deliver a go-ahead homer in a "winner take all" game, joining NYY Aaron Boone's walk-off in Game 7 of the 2003 ALCS vs. BOS and PIT Hal Smith in Game 7 of the 1960 World Series vs. NYY.

POWER SURGE

The Rays hit 4 HR in the Wild Card Game and 4 HR in Game 3 of the ALDS, twice tying their single-game postseason record…the Rays, who hit the fewest homers among the AL's five postseason clubs, totaled 11 HR in six postseason games…all 11 HR came in the club's 4 games when facing elimination, a major league record for homers in elimination games in a single postseason.

CHARLIE 2.0

In his first season with the Rays, Charlie Morton went 2-0 with a 0.90 ERA (10-IP, 1-ER) in two postseason starts…with his win in the Wild Card Game, he became the first pitcher in major league history to record the win in three "winner take all" playoff games…he defeated his former team in Game 3 of the ALDS, helping the Rays avoid elimination…it was his fourth career win in a potential elimination game, tied for the most in major league history…he won Game 7 of the ALCS the following year to extend both of these postseason records.

CUBAN SMOKE

Yandy Díaz was reinstated from the 60-day IL for the last game of the regular season and hit leadoff in the Wild Card Game…he homered in the 1st and 3rd innings, becoming the fifth Ray with a multi-HR game in the postseason and the first to do it in a "winner take all" game.

- Díaz was the 10th player in postseason history with a multi-HR effort in a "winner take all" game but only the second out of the leadoff spot, joining BOS Johnny Damon in Game 7 of the 2004 ALCS…he became the first leadoff hitter in major league history to homer in each of his first 2 AB of a postseason.

ICE CREAM MAN

In the Rays 5-4 win in Game 3 of the ALDS, catcher José Lobaton became just the 13th player to hit a walk-off home run in a postseason elimination game…he was the first AL player to do it since BOS David Ortiz in Game 4 of the 2004 ALCS vs. NYY… Lobaton, known for eating ice cream after hitting a home run, also became just the third player to hit a walk-off home run to avoid being swept in a postseason series…he joined Ortiz in 2004 and BOS Trot Nixon in Game 3 of 2003 ALDS vs. OAK.

- Lobaton's homer was hit into the Rays Touch Tank, the third home run to land there and first by a Rays player…the previous times were by DET Miguel Cabrera on June 30, 2013 and LAD Luis Gonzalez on June 24, 2007.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

In Game 3 of the ALDS, Evan Longoria homered on his 28th birthday, becoming the second player in major league history to hit a postseason homer on his birthday…he joined KC Willie Mays Aikens, who hit 2 HR in Game 1 of the 1980 World Series.

NINE FOR NINE

In the Rays 3-1 loss in Game 4 of the ALDS, Rays Manager Joe Maddon used nine pitchers, which set a major league postseason record at the time for a 9-inning game…this has since been broken by the Padres, who used 11 pitchers in their 12-3 loss in Game 3 of the 2020 NLDS vs. LAD.

2011 RAYS POSTSEASON REVIEW

THIRD TIME IN FOUR YEARS

The Rays advanced to the postseason for the third time in a span of four seasons (2008-11), first time as the AL Wild Card…during that span only two other teams made as many postseason appearances: Phillies (4) and Yankees (3)…the Rays became the third major league team and first AL team to advance to the postseason after starting the season 0-6, and just the second major league team to advance to the postseason after starting 1-8…the 1995 Reds won the NL Central after starting 0-6 and 1-8, and the 1974 Pirates won the NL East after starting 0-6.

MATT MOORE

HISTORIC COMEBACK

The Rays became the first team in major league history to be at least 9 GB of a playoff berth in September and make the postseason…the Rays were 9 GB of playoff contention on Sep 3…the 2011 World Series champion Cardinals were 8.5 GB on Sep 5…the Rays were 16-8 and the Red Sox were 6-18 over the last 24 games of the regular season, starting Sep 4.

RAYS vs. RANGERS, PART II

For the second year in a row, the Rays lost to the Rangers in the ALDS…the Rays actually outscored the Rangers, 21-16, but lost the series, 3-1…in these two series, the visiting teams went 8-1…the Rays went 3-1 with 26 runs and 21 XBH at Texas, but 0-5 with 8 runs and 8 XBH at home.

MATT MOORE

At 22 years, 104 days, Matt Moore became the youngest starting pitcher in major league history to win his team's first game of the postseason… previously that mark was held by CIN Gary Nolan (22 years, 129 days) in the 1970 NLCS…Moore did not allow a run in 7 IP in the Rays 9-0 win over the Rangers in Game 1 of the ALDS at TEX…he allowed 2 hits, 2 BB and recorded 6 SO while throwing 98 pitches.

- Moore became the fifth rookie starter to win his team's first game of the postseason and the first to do it since NYY Jim Beattie in Game 1 of the 1978 ALCS over the Royals…he also became the first rookie in major league history to go at least 7 IP and allow no runs and 2 hits (or fewer) in a postseason game…he remains the 2nd-youngest pitcher to ever do that, behind NYY Waite Hoyt (22 years, 27 days) in Game 2 of the 1921 World Series vs. the New York Giants.

REMARKABLE ROOKIES

Matt Moore and Jeremy Hellickson started Game 1 and Game 4 of the ALDS...the Rays were the 10th team, first since the 2007 Rockies, to use two rookie starters in the postseason...the Rays had seven rookies on their 25-man postseason roster.

JAMES SHIELDS

The 29-year-old started and lost Game 2 of the ALDS at Texas, 8-6...he took a 3-0 lead into the 4th inning but allowed 5 runs that frame, which included 2 HBP and 2 WP...he remains the only pitcher in major league history with 2 HBP and 2 WP in a postseason game...it was the first time in his career (in 190 regular and postseason starts) with 2 HBP in an inning and only the second time he threw 2 WP in an inning, following July 6, 2007 at KC...his line: 5 IP, 8 H, 7 R/ER, 0 BB, 6 SO.

2010 RAYS POSTSEASON REVIEW

2010 POSTSEASON

The Rays won the AL East for the second time in three years...after the current divisional format was adopted in 1994, the Rays became the first team other than the Yankees to win two AL East championships in a full 162-game season... with 96 wins, the Rays led the AL in wins for the first time and finished 2nd in the majors to the Phillies (97)...in addition, the Rays became:

- The first team in major league history to endure 10 straight losing seasons, then make the postseason two of the next three seasons.
- The first team to average 90-plus wins over three consecutive seasons after 10 straight losing seasons.
- The fourth team to average 90-plus wins over three seasons after averaging 90-plus losses the three previous seasons, joining the 1996–2001 Athletics, 1975-80 Brewers and 1988-93 Braves.

RANGERS DEFEAT RAYS IN ALDS

For the first time in major league history, the road team won every game of a postseason series...the Rays became the first team in major league history to lose three home games in any 5-game postseason series...it was the first ALDS to reach 5 games in five years—since the Angels won at home over the Yankees in 2005.

- The Rays became the third team to force a Game 5 in a best-of-five series after losing the first 2 games of the series at home...the 1981 Brewers (vs. New York) and 2001 Yankees (vs. Oakland) did it before them...a Division Series was necessary in 1981 due to the split season.
- The Rays became the 11th team to force a Game 5 in a 5-game series after losing the first 2 games (home or road)...the Rays were the first team since the 1981 Brewers to force a Game 5 after an 0-2 start and lose Game 5.

DAVID PRICE AND CLIFF LEE

Price had 14 SO and 0 BB in the series, and Lee had 21 SO and 0 BB...no pitchers in baseball history have totaled more strikeouts without allowing a walk in a postseason series than Lee and Price...ATL Kevin Millwood (2002 NLDS) and CLE Andrew Miller (2016 ALCS) have since tied Price's mark.

2008 RAYS POSTSEASON REVIEW

2008 POSTSEASON

Only one team in major league history lost more games than the Rays (96) the year before going to the World Series: the 1991 Braves, who were 65-97...the Rays were the second team in major league history and the fifth team in the four major sports to advance to its league's championship series the year after having the worst record in the league...the others to do that: 1991 Braves, 1958-59 Minneapolis Lakers, 1958-59 Toronto Maple Leafs and 1949-50 New York Rangers.

RAYS SET A.L. POSTSEASON HOMER MARK

The Rays hit 26 HR in the postseason, an AL record at the time...the previous record was 24, by the Angels in 2002...that mark remained one shy of the major league record until the 2020 postseason, when the Rays hit 34 HR and the Dodgers hit 30 HR...the Rays had 10 different player hit a postseason homer.

- The Rays hit 16 HR in the ALCS, most in LCS history, ahead of the Astros (14) in 2004...this has since been tied by the 2020 Dodgers... they belted 13 HR from Games 2-5, most home runs over a 4-game stretch in postseason history...the Yankees tied this mark in the 2020 postseason.
- B.J. Upton's 7 HR in the postseason fell 1 HR shy of the major league record for a single postseason at the time (8, SF Barry Bonds in 2002, HOU Carlos Beltran in 2004)...four of his 7 HR came in the ALCS, tying the LCS record at the time...he became the first player to hit 5 HR (or more) in the postseason after hitting 10 HR (or fewer) during the regular season.
- Evan Longoria's 6 HR were a major league rookie record for a single postseason, until TB Randy Arozarena (10) broke it in 2020...the previous record was

[2] ALCS, WS ROSTER ONLY

4 HR, by FLA Miguel Cabrera in 2003…four of his 6 HR came in the ALCS, tying the LCS record at the time…all 4 HR in the ALCS came in consecutive games (Games 2-5), which remains tied for a LCS record…he turned 23 on Oct 7, the youngest player in major league history to hit 6 HR (or more) in a single postseason.

RAYS SET POSTSEASON STEAL MARK

The Rays recorded 24 SB in the postseason, which remains a major league record ahead of the 1992 Braves (20) and 1975 Reds (20)…the Rays were caught just three times in 16 games.

ALCS MVP MATT GARZA

Matt Garza went 2-0 with a 1.38 ERA (13-IP, 8-H, 2-ER, 6-BB, 14-SO) in the ALCS…he won Game 3 and Game 7 for the Rays…it was the 11th time that a pitcher won ALCS MVP honors (10th different pitcher)…at 24, Garza became the youngest pitcher to ever win ALCS MVP honors, passing Mike Boddicker (26) of the 1983 Orioles.

DAVID PRICE

The 23-year-old top overall pick of the 2007 Amateur Draft became the quickest No. 1 overall selection to play in the World Series…he earned his first win at the major league level in Game 2 of the ALCS and recorded the final 4 outs in Game 7 for his first career save…at the time, he was the third rookie pitcher to record a win and a save in the same postseason series.

ERIK WALKER COMMUNITY CHAMPION AWARD

The Erik Walker Community Champion Award annually recognizes one Rays minor league player who exemplifies teamwork, sportsmanship and community involvement, attributes exhibited by Rays minor league pitcher Erik Walker, who died tragically in an October 2006 canoeing accident. Walker was drafted by the Rays in June 2006 and had just completed his first professional season with the Hudson Valley Renegades when his life was cut short on Oct 26, just 11 days after his 23rd birthday. Each of the Rays domestic minor league affiliates nominates a candidate for the award.

REMEMBERING A TRAILBLAZER

Andrés Reiner passed away on Aug 3, 2016, at age 80. Hired by the organization in 2006, Andrés was instrumental in reorganizing how the Rays approached recruiting and signing players in Latin America. He played a major role in the building of the Rays academies in Venezuela and the Dominican Republic.

Andrés transformed how baseball was scouted in Venezuela when he opened the country's first baseball academy for the Astros in 1989. Though many are aware of the 25 young men from that program who reached the big leagues, including Johan Santana, Bobby Abreu and Carlos Guillén, fewer know about the managers and coaches in minor league baseball who were influenced by Andrés. The Rays have several staff members who were signed by Andrés as players, including field coordinator Alejandro Freire, pitching coordinator Jorge Moncada, Durham coach Reinaldo Ruiz and GCL Rays coach Germán Meléndez.

Andrés pioneered the cultural transition programs in professional baseball. These are programs the Rays have established for young men signed in Latin America. The Rays stand with many others in tribute to a man who dedicated his life to growing our game and mentoring others to do the same.

EXPANDING INTERNATIONAL OPERATIONS

Rays infielder Wander Franco playing vitilla, a variation of stickball popular in the Dominican Republic, on a dirt field in his hometown of Baní in October 2018.

GEORGE PAPPAS / TAMPA BAY RAYS

BASEBALL HAS TRULY BECOME A GLOBAL GAME. TODAY, MORE THAN ONE-FOURTH OF ALL MAJOR LEAGUERS WERE BORN OUTSIDE OF THE UNITED STATES.

As a result, the Rays have expanded the reach of their international operations. With the signing of Japanese third baseman/outfielder Yoshi Tsutsugo in December 2019, the Rays now have players from 14 countries—Aruba, Australia, Brazil, Canada, Colombia, Cuba, Curaçao, Dominican Republic, Germany, Japan, South Korea, Mexico, Nicaragua and Venezuela—in addition to those from the United States.

While the organization spans the globe in search of talent, the main focus is in the Dominican Republic and Venezuela, where Tampa Bay operates baseball academies.

In 2006, shortly after the ownership group led by Stuart Sternberg took control of the club, the Rays agreed to a partnership with the Los Angeles Dodgers in which the two organizations would share Campo Las Palmas in the Dominican Republic, long considered the gold standard for Dominican facilities. Campo Las Palmas was home to the Rays baseball academy and a summer league team until early 2009 when the organization inaugurated a new academy located on the property adjacent to the Dodgers. The complex has two full diamonds and a half field, clubhouse, gym, covered batting cages, classrooms, a dining area and living facilities which can accommodate up to 92 players. In 2018, the program claimed its first Dominican Summer League (DSL) title.

In 2007, the Rays opened their Venezuelan baseball academy in Guacara, 100 miles west of Caracas. In addition to baseball fields, the Venezuelan academy includes a dining area and dormitory which can accommodate 56 players. The Rays played in the Venezuelan Summer League (VSL) in 2007 as part of a co-op team with the Cincinnati Reds before forming a team of their own in 2008. The program won VSL championships in 2009 and 2011. The VSL closed its operations after the 2015 season, prompting the Rays to add a second team in the DSL in 2016.

In 2019, Carlos Rodriguez was promoted to vice president, player development and international operations. He enters his second season overseeing both areas. Likewise, Steve Miller enters his second season as director, international scouting, running the department and overseeing all scouts. TROPICANA FIELD & MISC.

Since 2008, Tropicana Field has hosted 19 postseason games over six visits to the playoffs. The Rays have won four straight postseason games at Tropicana Field dating back to the 2019 season. Because the 2020 season was played without fans, the Rays installed 18"x30" cardboard cutouts made of Coroplast. Over the past four years, Rays ownership has invested more than $20 million in capital improvements to the facility. This includes new LED lights and an overhauled food, beverage and retail space.

- Although unable to host fans in 2020, Tropicana Field was put to much use leading up to the 2021 season. The site hosted entertainment events such as semi-weekly World Wrestling Entertainment, Inc. (WWE) productions and the Jurassic Quest dinosaur experience. Community-focused efforts included serving as an official ballot-drop location and facilitating 7,100 weekly COVID-19 tests administered by Pinellas County Emergency Management.
- Prior to the 2020 season, Tropicana Field transitioned to exclusive use of mobile tickets in order to improve ballpark security, limit fraudulent entry and reduce paper waste. Tropicana Field was also announced as the first cash-free sports venue in North America in 2019.
- Knotless safety nets were installed from the inside of the dugouts to the far ends of the dugouts in 2017 and then extended out to the ends of Sections 125 and 126 two years later.
- Originally named the Florida Suncoast Dome, Tropicana Field's 1.1 million square feet include unique design features and fan amenities found nowhere else in the major leagues.
- The venue opened to the public on March 3, 1990, at a cost of $138 million. It became the ThunderDome in 1993 with the arrival of the National Hockey League expansion franchise, the Tampa Bay Lightning. It was renamed Tropicana Field on Oct 4, 1996, in accordance with a naming rights agreement between the Rays and Bradenton's Tropicana Dole Beverages.
- Since 2005, the Rays have invested an estimated $50 million into capital improvements at Tropicana Field.
- In 2019, the existing field lights were replaced with energy-efficient LED lights, enhancing on-field playability and in-game entertainment.
- In 2018, the Rays partnered with Levy to overhaul the food, beverage and retail experience, including "food halls" and a renovated team store.
- Between 2013-14, the Rays added 360-degree pedestrian circulation around the lower seating bowl. The improved circulation provides easier access to and from ballpark gates, concessions and activity areas throughout the facility.
- Over 2006-07, the Rays invested more than $18 million toward ballpark improvements, including the creation of the Rays Club and the installation of new video boards and a sound system.
- Tropicana Field is also the world's only professional sports facility that features live rays. The 10,000-gallon Rays Touch Tank opened in 2006, and is located just behind the right-center field wall. There are over 20 cownose rays that fans can touch during the game through a unique partnership with the Florida Aquarium.

- Tropicana Field and Toronto's Rogers Centre both feature an artificial surface and all-dirt base paths. Only four other artificial turf ballparks have ever featured all-dirt base paths: Houston's Astrodome (1966-71), San Francisco's Candlestick Park (1971), Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium (1970-72) and St. Louis' Busch Stadium (1970-76).
- The Rays installed new Shaw Sports Turf ahead of the 2019 season, the seventh surface in 22 seasons. They began play in 1998 on AstroTurf, went to a FieldTurf surface in 2000 and FieldTurf's improved product in 2007. In 2011, AstroTurf installed Game Day Grass 3D-60 H. The first of three Shaw Sports Turf surfaces was installed in advance of the 2017 season.
- Tropicana Field features the world's largest cable-supported domed roof following the demolition of the Georgia Dome in 2017. It's made of six acres of translucent, Teflon-coated fiberglass and supports itself with 180 miles of cables connected by struts. Opposing forces of tension and compression keep the roof in an arc. Tropicana Field's roof is slanted at a 6.5-degree angle, dropping from 225 feet above second base to 85 feet at the center field wall. The slanted roof reduced the overall construction costs and decreased the volume of air under the dome by 16.8 million cubic feet, decreasing the amount of air requiring climate control. It is built to withstand winds of up to 115 miles per hour.
- Though originally built for baseball, there have been 15 other varieties of sporting events held there. These include hockey, basketball, football, sprint car racing, gymnastics, soccer, tennis, weight lifting, wrestling, table tennis, karate, motorcycle racing, equestrian events, track and figure skating.
- In addition to the 2008 World Series, the facility was also home to the 1999 NCAA Basketball Final Four featuring Duke, Ohio State, Michigan State and eventual-champion Connecticut. The largest crowd to date—47,150—appeared at the Aug 11, 1990 concert featuring New Kids on the Block. It is currently home to college football's East-West Shrine Game.

On Sep 20, 2006, the Rays and the Charlotte County Board of Commissioners signed a 20-year agreement for the team to conduct spring training at Charlotte Sports Park, the spring training home of the Texas Rangers from 1987–2002. Following an 18-month renovation, the park became the Rays official spring home on Feb 25, 2009, when Tampa Bay hosted the Cincinnati Reds. The Rays went on to set the club spring training attendance record and sold out eight home games in their first season in Charlotte County. In 2014, readers of USA Today voted Charlotte Sports Park their favorite spring training destination.

IMPROVEMENTS
Prior to the 2020 spring season, the Rays funded $2.5 million in facility improvements, resulting in 27,000 square feet of new or renovated spaces primarily aimed at increasing and modernizing the amount of indoor player training space on site. Changes included a state-of-the-art training facility and climate-controlled batting cages.

SEATING CAPACITY
The ballpark features a diversity of seating areas, including over 5,000 fixed seats and two berm areas and other general admission areas that can accommodate over 1,000 additional fans, all within an intimate ballpark setting. The stadium capacity is 6,823.

PLAYER FACILITIES
A 44,000-square-foot, two-story clubhouse building beyond right field features locker rooms for Rays major and minor league players and houses the Rays Player Development center. The nearby Athletic Performance Center opened ahead of the 2020 spring season and features 10,500 square feet of continuous training space.

TEAM STORE
